Dine and Dance, Stop and Think

WASHINGTON, D.C.: For all the dining and the dancing, the merriment and the laughter, the Capital City at inauguration time was not in a mood to forget what was ahead in the day by day unfolding of a cloudy future.

The cowboy bands, the squads of mountain men from the Western states, and the many other costumes, did not seem quite so much in keeping with the times as in bygone years. They always looked artificial. They appear the more so now.

No amount of evoking the past will lift the weight of the future. It is here, and everyone seemed to know it. The Democrats are happy. At the dinners, large and small, the conversation is neither exultant nor overly critical. There is no wish to criticize the departing President, but there is a feeling that his eight years were somehow a holding, a time when the nation stood still, when the dangers grew stronger and the people and their leadership less assured.

The talk is neither bitter nor condemning. But it holds to the fact that somehow in the Eisenhower years the economy slipped, the presence of communism moved from Asia and Europe to Cuba and Latin America, and Red China came to even terms with the U.S.S.R. with debates on ideological procedures.

New Hope

How this came about none can be quite sure. And what can be done is not sure either. But there is a new hope. Youth does not know all the answers, but it is action, and the nation needs action.

There was a snow-filled wind blowing during the inauguration period. It caught at the red, white and blue bunting along the buildings and swept the many flags into vibrating parallelograms of stars and stripes.

"Maybe it is a symbolism," said a dinner guest, coming out into the street and feeling the cold lash of it across his face. "We need a new, fresh wind to blow in this town."

The story is that President Eisenhower, who made a substantial revaluation of John Kennedy after his first talk with him, has said that he wished he, Eisenhower, might have attracted about him the many able assistants and cabinet members who have answered Kennedy's call. It likely is a true story. The quality of the Kennedy government is exciting and of enormous potential for quick analysis and bold action.

"Thank God, it hasn't got all those businessmen in it such as Ike enlisted," said a veteran senator. "There doesn't seem to be a Charlie Wilson or a George Humphrey among them."

Army Life

This comment perhaps best explains why Mr. Eisenhower could not possibly have attracted a similar assembly of men. His life had been army. His life was one of the commander or the commanded. In his campaign of 1952, he seemed a bit wistful at times as he patiently and sincerely explained that all one had to do to make Washington hum was to bring the best business brains in and put them in charge. He believed this. And he learned a hard way there is much more to government than business. The debt he was going to reduce did not go down. It went up.

Mr. Eisenhower, it is agreed, would never have thought of assembling such a staff as Kennedy has brought from university and laboratory, from business and research. Government must have business direction, but government remains people and their problems and the relationship of these to the international demands. This requires not merely a neatly kept set of books and a caretaker, but imagination, conception, innovation, and boldness in the White House.

All this, and more, was a part of the stuff of conversation in the nation's capital as the guard prepared to change. We have come a long way since crusty old John Adams slipped out of town to avoid seeing the radical Virginian, Thomas Jefferson. And that gentleman on inauguration day simply left his boarding house, mounted a horse, and rode up the street to take the oath. But we never manage to leave the problems behind.

92 Survive In Crash of Jet with 106

(Copyright 1961 by The New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK—A four-engined jet airliner with 106 persons aboard careened off a runway at New York International Airport Thursday night in a blinding snowstorm and exploded in an adjoining swamp.

There were conflicting reports from the crash scene late Thursday night concerning the number of casualties. At least 20 of the 98 passengers and eight crew members were trapped in the plane as it exploded, according to an early report by Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr.

But at 11:30 p.m., Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy reported that 92 of those aboard had survived, with five known dead and nine unaccounted for.

A temporary morgue was set up at a nearby restaurant. The first bodies taken to the morgue there were those of a child and a man.

The giant craft, a fully loaded DC8 jet plane owned by Aeronaves Airlines, was taking off for Mexico City when it broke through a barrier on the eastern corner of the Idlewild Airport.

The liner, which began rolling down the runway at 8:25 p.m., shot across Rockaway Boulevard after breaking through the wire fence and crashed into the marsh just east of the intersection with Springfield Boulevard.

The huge jet struck a red-and-black sedan, carrying two persons, and knocked the car for a distance of about 20 yards. Flames engulfed the car and one of the occupants was believed to have been trapped.

The plane, which had broken into flames as it struck the airport barrier, plunged into the swamp and a short time later an explosion rocked the craft.

Survivors who scrambled out of a rear emergency exit in the tourist section said that most of the passengers and crew members were out of the plane and running across the marsh when the explosion ripped the craft apart.

Flames spewed over a 400-foot area, according to survivors and eyewitnesses to the crash. The plane struck an area of Springfield Gardens in Queens that is well populated but the dwellings in the crash area are widely spaced and none of the houses was struck.

Emergency vehicles, including fire trucks, ambulances and police cars converged on the scene and the fire fighting continued for about two hours before the flames were put out.

The Mexican plane dug a crater in the ground as it nosed to a stop about 200 feet from the road.

First reports said that there were apparently no survivors, when it seemed that no one could have managed to get out of the wreckage and away in time. But the rear escape hatch, which apparently snapped open with the impact, provided quick exit for the lucky ones aboard.

At least 30 of the survivors were picked up while they were wandering in the area and taken to the Eastern Airlines hangar at Idlewild. Ambulances took six of the injured to nearby hospitals.

"But it looked like everybody got out. There were an awful lot of them. They were running across the marsh through the snow. Some had no shoes and some were in shirtsleeves.

"I got out of my car and helped

Skies to Clear Here For Chill Day in 30s

A spell of clear, cold weather is predicted for Atlanta.

The weather bureau predicted a low of 26 Friday and a high of 42 and, for Saturday, a low of 24 and a high of 44.

Skies began to clear in Atlanta Thursday night after a day of rain, but in North Georgia there was snow. It covered the ground in Blairsville Thursday night.

Earlier Thursday, a storm with winds of 47 miles per hour hit Bleckley County, uprooting trees and damaging several small farm buildings.

Millions Crowd City; Festivities Curtailed

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—John F. Kennedy takes the oath as the nation's 35th president Friday in a capital city all but paralyzed on inaugural eve by a driving snowstorm that wrecked some festivities and disrupted plans of two former presidents.

The frenzied capital, jammed with visitors for the inaugural, was thoroughly fouled up. Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, were forced to cancel several scheduled appearances when they could not make their way through snow-covered streets.

With the swearing-in only hours away, the official forecaster predicted the storm would deposit "up to six inches or more" of snow on the city before ending in the early morning.

TRAFFIC SNARLED

Washington sanitation director, William A. Xanten, called the traffic snarl "absolutely hopeless" and said it was blocking his snowplows, trucks and sanding equipment from clearing the streets for Friday's festivities.

Gala story on Page 12.

For the noon swearing-in on Capitol Hill Friday, the forecaster predicted "windy and cold with variable cloudiness and a high near 32 degrees." During the night the temperature dropped to the low 20s.

Perhaps hardest hit by the storm was former President Herbert Hoover. He was flown in an Air Force transport from Miami, Fla., to Washington, but the plane was unable to land at the capital and Hoover decided to return to Florida.

SPECIAL PLACE

He had been scheduled for a special place of honor in the inaugural ceremonies, along with the nation's other two former presidents, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Truman also suffered. After

Vandiver On Way to Inaugural

By FRANK WELLS

Georgia's tired but more relaxed Gov. Ernest Vandiver boarded a train for Washington Thursday night, headed for the inauguration of John F. Kennedy as president.

The governor's whole family was with him on the "Southerner" for the overnight trip to the nation's capital.

The governor looked tired but relaxed. He said he wouldn't get much chance to rest Friday in Washington, but would on the train trip up and back. The family plans to return to Atlanta Saturday.

The governor decided Thursday to make the trip.

As the governor waited for the train at Brookwood Station, many other passengers came up to greet him.

Without exception they congratulated him on his Wednes-

Vacation? It Can Wait, Says Shaken Survivor

NEW YORK (AP)—"I'm through with vacations," said Mrs. Archie Rosenberg, 36.

"Mexico City can wait. I'll stay right here in the safety of my own home."

Mrs. Rosenberg and her husband were among survivors of the Mexican DC8 jet airliner which crashed in Queens Thursday night.

They had rushed, shoeless and coatless, from the huge craft seconds before it exploded and was engulfed in flames.

"I don't know how many were still in it," said Rosenberg, 46. "There were two men and two stewardesses who came out just after we did."

The airliner came down about two miles from Rosenberg's home at 540 Church Ave. in the Woodmere section of Nassau. They said a passing motorist gave them a lift home.

"We didn't know where else to go," Rosenberg said. "There was so much confusion."

Rosenberg, a shoe salesman, said he and his wife had just taken off their shoes and leaned back when he sensed something was wrong with the plane.

"We took off and were about 50 feet above the runway when I heard what seemed like a bump," he said.

"It didn't sound normal to me, and I told my wife, 'put your head between your legs. I think we're going to crack up.'

"Sure enough, we did," he added.

Vandiver's 4 Bills Go to Legislature

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Administration leaders offered four bills Thursday to repeal present school-closing laws and implement the freedom-of-choice plan proposed by Gov. Ernest Vandiver Wednesday night.

The bills would in effect permit some desegregation in Georgia schools.

But they would set up tuition grants for pupils who refuse to attend desegregated schools and allow voters in each community to decide whether to close schools or leave them open in the face of integration orders.

Vandiver's leaders proposed a constitutional amendment which would in effect guarantee that no child be forced against his will to attend class with a child of another race.

Text of Atty. Gen. Cook's statement on school situation, Page 15.

A fourth proposal clarifies a point in existing laws by providing that appeals from all school systems — including independent city systems—be heard by the State Board of Education.

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook in a statement Thursday asserted that the only alternatives to Vandiver's proposals are standing on existing laws and thereby inviting "massive integration by court decrees" or abolishing public education altogether.

Even if rural counties abolished their schools, he added, Atlanta could operate desegregated schools with local funds.

The tuition grant, freedom of association and local option pro-

A Confident Kennedy Briefed by Eisenhower

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Smiling and confident, John F. Kennedy Thursday received an up-to-date rundown on world problems from President Eisenhower, who will pass those problems to Kennedy Friday.

Later, the president-elect was briefed by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, the nation's top military man, on matters Kennedy will start handling as commander in chief. Lemnitzer said the conference involved nothing of an emergency nature.

In calling on Eisenhower, Kennedy entered the White House as a visitor for the last time for at least four years. By Friday night, the 43-year-old Massachusetts Democrat will occupy the president's oval-shaped office.

Looking sun-bronzed, fit and at ease, Kennedy was asked by reporters how he was bearing up under the preinauguration pressures and excitement.

Grinning, Kennedy replied: "Very well, thank you. I'm feeling fine."

Somebody wanted to know if he was excited. "Interested," Ken-

Vandiver, State Sigh with Relief

"In the past few days," Gov. Vandiver said, "we have seen events move so swiftly that it was hard to keep them in their true perspective."

Had he not said it in such dead seriousness, and to one of the most intent audiences he ever faced, the governor would have gotten the chuckle that Americans reserve for British understatement.

For the state has lived these last three weeks in political turmoil, and nobody could say for sure it has ended.

So the General Assemblymen sat quietly in their seats as the governor continued with his solution to the school crisis.

Those directly involved felt they were riding a roller-coaster cooped up in a steam cabinet—up and down, swerving and swaying, and sweating all the while.

A governor was about to resign . . . no, he wasn't . . . a lieutenant governor was about to become acting governor . . . no, not now . . . the University of Georgia was going to close . . . no, said

Marietta Couple Sells Baby To Dalton Woman for $20

DALTON — A Marietta couple sold their 3-month-old baby daughter to a middle-aged woman here for $20 and then left town, Whitfield County Sheriff Donald McArthur said Thursday.

The couple said they needed the money to pay a hospital bill.

The pair, identified as Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Little of a Marietta address, were being sought by officers Thursday after a Whitfield County Grand Jury indicted them for abandonment.

The baby, Linda, was sold a week ago to Mrs. Sue York, 47, a cook in a nursing home here, Sheriff McArthur said. Before selling the child for $20, the Littles tried to sell it to another Dalton couple for $90, the sheriff said. The Dalton couple did not take the proposed "baby sale" seriously, according to McArthur.

Constitution State News Service

After selling the baby, Little, a construction worker, told fellow workers that the child had died, McArthur said. The other workers contributed money to the Littles to help pay funeral expenses, he continued.

The sale was discovered when health and welfare workers were visiting the nursing home where Mrs. York works. They discovered the baby there and questioned her about it.

She told them she had paid the Littles $20 for the child.

Welfare officials decided to leave the infant with Mrs. York temporarily after her employer, Mrs. Bernice Van Hoosier, told them the baby had been well taken care of.

The Littles have one other child, an 18-month-old baby, which is believed to be still with them, Sheriff McArthur said. They lived in a trailer just outside Dalton.

6 U.S. 'Invaders' Seized By Cuban Patrol Boat

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government greeted the incoming Kennedy administration with a new flurry of anti-American decrees and a triumphant announcement that six "Yankee invaders" were captured sailing into Havana harbor.

The announcement Thursday said the latter came from an anti-Castro training camp in Florida and got lost on the way to join rebels in Pinar del Rio Province. The adventurers were handed over Thursday to a military tribunal which can sentence them to death.

They were identified as George R. Beck, 24, Norton, Mass.; Tommy L. Baker, 28, Dothan, Ala.; a native of Georgia, Donald Joe Green, 28, Clover, S.C.; James E. Beane, 34, Cedar Falls, N.C.; Leonard Louis Schmidt, 21, Chicago, and Alfred Eugene Gibson, 32, Durham, N.C.

Three Americans caught with anti-Castro rebels were executed last year.

Recently the execution squads went back into action. Urbano Perez Diaz, a convicted terrorist, was shot in Camague Thursday, raising the unofficial execution total to 585 since Castro gained power two years ago.

Castro's decrees, ranging from mildly harassing to possibly serious in effect, were approved in a predawn Cabinet session.

Four thousand Cuban civilians who work at the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay were ordered to obtain special work permits which require a declaration of income.

This will permit sharper control of the dollars earned by the workers, who can convert their wages into pesos at higher black market rates and thus keep the dollars from the government's dwindling foreign exchange reserves.

The decree also allows the government to weed out Cuban workers who are known American sympathizers by refusing them work permits. One effect would be to force Cubans whose support for Castro is only lukewarm to seek living space within the base as many did during the height of Castro's revolution against ousted President Fulgencio Batista.

Another decree ordered removal of the American eagle—it's too "imperialistic" — from atop Havana's seafront memorial to the men who died in the sinking of the battleship Maine in 1898.

Also to be taken down are busts of former presidents Theodore Roosevelt and William McKinley and Gen. Leonard Wood. They will be replaced by busts of Abraham Lincoln and other "democratic Americans."

The Cabinet also gave citizenship to Juan Juarbes, a Puerto Rican industrialist leader, and Laur Menses de Albuizu Campos, wife of Puerto Rico's ailing nationalist leader now held under guard in a San Juan hospital.

Not a shot was fired by any of the "invasion guards" in Havana harbor as a Cuban naval patrol captured a tiny band of Americans attempting to enter Jan. 7.

Their arrival was the nearest thing to an invasion that Castro's defenders have been able to produce during 20 days of special mobilization ordered to repel what the prime minister said would be a major attack from the United States.

The mobilization alert is scheduled to end Friday, simultaneous with what the Cuban government calls "Eisenhower's warmongering regime."

The announcement said the Americans, prisoners at Havana intelligence headquarters from Jan. 7, received instructions and promises of great rewards at a Florida training camp for counterrevolutionaries operated by former Sen. Rolando Masferrer, who ran a hated private army under Batista called the Tigers.

AROUND THE NATION

Gov. Rockefeller Steps Into N.Y. Strike Crisis

(Copyright 1961 by The New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK—Personal intervention by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller produced indications Thursday night of progress toward a break in the harbor strike that has shut two major railroads and disrupted travel for 100,000 commuters.

After a day of gloom, mediators expressed hope that union and management negotiators might prove receptive to a new formula for resolving the bitter dispute over the proposed abolition of jobs on the struck railroad ferries and tugs.

The progress was still too tenuous to justify a prediction that the 10-day rail blockade was ending. However, John J. Gaherin, chief negotiator for the employers, said the bargaining teams were "very close" and an accord might come soon.

Claude Simmons, his opposite number on the union side, confined himself to a declaration that "there's a chance." Their statements came after the governor had said the impact of the walkout of 664 ferry and tug crewmen was "getting close to catastrophic proportions."

Ice and snow added tortures to the plight of the stranded commuters as they turned to automobiles and buses. Huge pile-ups were reported at tunnel entrances and bus terminals in the evening rush.

A comforting note, however, was the fact that the Pennsylvania and Long Island railroads kept operating normally and did not join the New York Central and New Haven in idleness.

New Rocket Falls Short

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new kind of research rocket failed to perform as planned Thursday in a flight test at Wallops Island, Va.

The test was conducted by the Goddard Space Flight Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The rocket, called the Iris, has a single stage and burns solid fuel. It was supposed to carry 100 pounds of instruments to an altitude of 160 miles. It reached only 86.

Discoverer IV Burning Out

BEDFORD, Mass. (UPI) — The Discoverer satellite, launched Dec. 20 at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., probably will burn in the earth's atmosphere some time Friday, the National Space Surveillance Control Center reported Thursday.

Its death would leave 17 satellites in orbit, including one Russian, the agency said.

5.5 Million Idle, Kennedy Told

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President-elect John F. Kennedy will go into office with about 5,500,000 Americans unemployed, his labor secretary said Thursday.

The last published figures put unemployment at 4,540,000 for December.

Georgian in Cuba Fears Execution

From Press Dispatches

DOTHAN, Ala.—Tommy Baker wrote his parents in a letter received this week that he was in a Cuban jail and "I may be sent to the wall and shot."

DOTHAN, Ala. (AP) — Tommy Baker wrote his parents in a letter received this week that he was in a Cuban jail and "I may be sent to the wall and shot."

"I have prayed over and over that he would get back safe," said his mother, Mrs. James M. Baker, as she showed the letter to newsmen Thursday. "I can't think about anything else."

Fidel Castro's government announced Thursday it is holding six Americans accused of sailing to Cuba Jan. 7 to join counterrevolutionary forces. Baker, 28, of Dothan, is listed in the group. He is a native of Donalsonville, Ga.

WIRES CONGRESSMAN

Mrs. Baker sent a telegram Thursday to Rep. George Andrews, D-Ala., asking his help in getting her son released.

Baker's letter, written on the blank side of what appeared to be a page from a Cuban book, said in part:

"Dearest folks: Just a few lines to let you know where I am and how I'm getting along. I'm in jail in Habana, Cuba, and I'm in good health. Now for the bad news. I may be sent to the wall and shot. I don't know yet. . . .

"Frank Beatty is going to give this to you. He was in here with me. Bye. I love you all and I'm sorry it turned out this way. Tommy."

WRITER EX-ATLANTAN

Beatty, a former Atlantan, is a United Press International photographer released last week from a Cuban prison. He mailed the letter to the Bakers after returning to this country.

Mrs. Baker said her son telephoned her Monday night after New Year's from Miami, Fla.

"I could tell he was crying," she said. "He said, 'Mother, I can't tell you why I'm going right now. Maybe some day I can tell you all about it.'"

Mrs. Baker said a letter from her son in late December made no mention of going to Cuba.

"He's in no condition to do any fighting," she said at the time. "We're not pleased at all about the prospects of his going to Cuba."

Mrs. Baker said her son was wounded in the foot while serving in the infantry in Korea and last year spent several weeks in a hospital with a back injury.

Mrs. Baker said the last previous time she heard from her son he was in Florida. She said she pleaded with him then to return home.

The woman wrote United Press International asking if there "is anything on this earth I can do to get Tommy back home?"

She sent her son a letter telling him:

"I don't know what to say, but I just hope and pray to God that you will get out and get back home to us. We need you and Linda Sue (Baker's 8-year-old sister) needs you. We love you Tommy, and there is nothing that you have done to ask us to forgive you of. If you feel like you need forgiveness, then you are forgiven my dearest son. . . ."

Another letter from Baker, sent to his former wife, Jewell, explained that the Cubans were accusing him of trying to "invade" the island.

News of the arrests also came as a shock to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Deane of Cedar Falls, N.C. Their son, James Douglas Deane, 34, was another of those reported in custody.

Mrs. Beane said she has not seen her son for "two or three years" and that the last word the family received from him was a telegram at Christmas.

WORLD BRIEFS

Dr. Dooley Dies of Cancer

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Thomas Dooley, 34, famed "Jungle Doctor" of Laos and author of the best-selling "The Night They Burned the Mountain," is dead of cancer.

His health had failed rapidly in the past few days and he died in his sleep Wednesday night in Memorial Hospital, just a day after his birthday.

He had continued his fight against disease in primitive areas until his own illness forced him to a painful halt last month. He entered the hospital Dec. 27. A solemn pontifical funeral mass will be conducted in the St. Louis, Mo., new Cathedral Monday.

U.S., Honduras End Trade Pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Thursday canceled tariff concessions to Honduras that were contained in a treaty approved in 1935.

His proclamation announcing the action said both the United States and the Republic of Honduras have agreed to terminate tariff concessions starting Feb. 28.

The President's statement gave no indication why the trade pact was scrapped.

Tito Biographer Will Be Freed

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Milovan Djilas, former vice president of Yugoslavia serving a nine-year prison term, will be released Friday, the government announced.

Milovan Djilas

Famed as the biographer of President Tito, Djilas headed Yugoslavia's delegation to the United Nations in 1949 and was named vice president in 1953.

He fell from President Tito's favor a year later for his writings proposing greater freedom in Yugoslavia. Djilas was kicked out of the Yugoslav Communist party and stripped of his position in 1954.

Ramsey Heads British Church

LONDON. (UPI) — The Most Rev. Dr. Arthur M. Ramsey, 56, the folksy Archbishop of York who has been known to stop in the local pub for a pint of bitters, was named by Queen Elizabeth Thursday as the new primate of the Church of England.

He will assume the title of Archbishop of Canterbury, succeeding the Most Rev. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, who announced his retirement Tuesday at the age of 73. Dr. Fisher has held the primacy since 1945. He was granted a life barony and will remain in the House of Lords.

New Cardinals Given Symbols

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope John XXIII completed a week of solemn religious rites Thursday by bestowing on Joseph Cardinal Ritter of St. Louis and three other new princes of the Roman Catholic Church the final symbols of their new rank as cardinal—red galeros and rings.

The consistory was carried out before 15,000 persons in the Basilica of St. Peter's, the largest church in Christendom. The other new cardinals are Jose Cardinal Quintero, archbishop of Caracas, Venezuela; Luis Cardinal Cordoba, archbishap of Bogota, Colombia, and Giuseppe Cardinal Ferretto of Italy.

A 20th Century Man Becomes President As the New Frontier Rushes To Meet Us

The 43-year-old man who today will become the 35th president of the United States is a product of the 20th century. None of the old political cliches fit him. His cut is of a different pattern.

This is not to say that John F. Kennedy is not a politician. He has proved himself to be a master craftsman at the game. He comes from a political family and from a city where politics is a science. His election to the presidency was no accident. It is, however, a tribute to ambition, intelligence and ability.

A descendant of Irish immigrants, the new President was born to wealth. But during all of his adult life he has been schooling himself for leadership in government. He has done so without becoming a prisoner of the right or left. He assumes the office with fewer obligations to special interests than any president in recent history.

The test of John F. Kennedy, of course, will be in performance. That he will face some of the gravest decisions ever to face a chief executive is granted. Not only will the task require clear thinking and cool judgment, it will require a sense of history, of purpose and direction. Kennedy has shown already he has the will and the determination to lead.

John F. Kennedy has the confidence to undertake the great responsibilities which he eagerly sought. He is not terrified of the unknown as many of his fellow countrymen well may be. His is the task of leading the nation to those "new frontiers" which rush toward us with incredible speed.

At the inauguration today the truly American poet, Robert Frost, will describe the past and the always challenging future in his great poem, "The Gift Outright," which he will read. It is fitting we study his call to greatness:

The land was ours before we were the land's.
She was our land more than a hundred years
Before we were her people. She was ours
In Massachusetts, in Virginia,
But we were England's, still colonials,
Possessing what we still were unpossessed by,
Possessed by what we now no more possessed.
Something we were withholding left us weak
Until we found out that it was ourselves
We were withholding from our land of living
And forthwith found salvation in surrender.
Such as we were we gave ourselves outright
(The deed of gift was many deeds of war)
To the land vaguely realizing westward,
But still unstoried, artless, unenhanced,
Such as she was, such as she will become.

Attorney General Rules On Segregationist's Role

We are glad to see wide and immediate legislative support for Gov. Vandiver's sensible package of open-school legislation .

Attorney General Eugene Cook on Thursday pretty well described the position of any segregationists who may oppose the Vandiver plan when he gave the following legal opinion:

"Anyone who insists on standing by our existing laws, and who is unwilling to abolish public education altogether, must necessarily assume the responsibility for massive, wholesale integration of our public schools, and further assume the respnosibility for denying grants-in-aid, which are unauthorized under existing law."

Sheriffs' Salary Bill Shouldn't Be Crippled

The Senate Judiciary Committee has cleared the sheriffs' salary bill with the understanding there would be ample opportunities to offer amendments on the floor.

Foes of the measure should take into consideration the fact that its terms do not make it compulsory for counties to change to the salary system.

That in itself weakens its purpose but at least should make it more acceptable to its critics. To water it down even further would make it meaningless.

Any amending should be for the purpose of giving the bill more vigor instead of crippling it.

The latter is exactly what would happen if such gimmicks as paving the way for counties to change back to the fee system are allowed to creep into the final version of the proposed act.

If a county believes its sheriff is loafing or would loaf under the salary plan, its voters have full recourse at the polls. Certainly the evils of the fee system should be well recognized now.

The Georgia Sheriffs Association favors salaries. Its members should be vocal in supporting legislation to that effect.

Meanwhile, Spalding County Reps. Quimby Melton Jr. and Arthur Bolton have introduced potent legislation aimed at speed traps.

One way or another, the legislature should provide the means for putting an end to speed traps and other unfair conditions which the fee system fosters.

The Inauguration Is Now Well in Hand, Too

It's good to see Gov. Vandiver going to the inauguration after all. It shows the nation that Georgia's crises, which brought coast-to-coast predictions of woe, are well in hand. And besides, an empty chair for Georgia at the inauguration of a Democratic president which the state did so much to elect would not have been quite right. The situation in Washington is well in hand, too.

Douglas County Youth Joins Ranks of Heroes

A 12-year-old Douglas County boy faced a fiery test the other night and he came through bravely.

Stanley McGouirk put the safety of his brothers and sisters above himself when the apartment in which the family lived caught fire while the parents were away.

Young Stanley roused his brothers and sisters from sleep, led four of them to safety and then, despite the flames and smoke, returned to rescue the other two.

In our book that boy is a hero.

Why Did Stevenson Draw That Big Crowd?

It is not true that the reason so many Stevensonians turned up at Adlai's Senate committee hearing was that they thought he was there to be inaugurated.

Close-up

The Public Still Has a Right to Know

When a politician like Marvin Griffin jumps on the press it doesn't bother newspapermen much. When a college president like Dr. Edwin Harrison does, it's another matter.

When a certain breed of politician talks about "them lying newspapers" it's obvious to everyone that what he means is "the papers are telling the truth about me again." When an honorable and intelligent educator suggests that reporters ought to be barred from the scene of events of over-riding importance, the meaning is less obvious. Does he think that particular news is nobody's business? Does he think the press "contributes" to the "news"? Does he think that his publicity man can do better the job of telling the people what is going on? Or does he just not like newspapermen?

None of these particular reasons is valid:

A participant in a public controversy is the last persons in the world to judge accurately to what degree it is anybody else's business. Only rarely do newspapermen "cause" news. (It happens, of course, to the shame of our trade. But it is so rare as to be no real reason for suppression.) Publicity men find it extremely difficult to present to the public an objective picture of a controversial situation. Finally, whether you like newspapermen or not has nothing to do with understanding their function.

"The people's right to know" is, perhaps, a pompous phrase. It still is a phrase that has meaning. The people have a right to know what happens in the public arena. Newspapers have a constitutional obligation to tell them.

The campus of a tax-supported college is in the public arena when it overturns age-old customs. People expect and need to know what happens in new situations such as that. It is the duty of the reporter to do "what every sovereign citizen is supposed to do but has not the time or interest to do for himself."

Ike Never Joined The U.S. Elite

Parting with Dwight Eisenhower is a tug. To those who served under him in the war he was the old man. When he said it was time to cross the Channel, they went, figuring it could be done because he said do it.

When he went back in peacetime to command the NATO forces the world slept a little more easily at night. When he won the nomination and the election, even a Democrat felt it was all right. Then as president he let a lot of things run down. History can hardly call his era a great one for America. But always in stress, or in living day to day, the people felt ennobled somehow by the mere presence of his prairie character, and proud of his fine face. It was Uncle Sam as we wanted him to look, and sound, and be.

Inarticulate, as most of us are; searching awkwardly, as most Americans do; unpolished but rich with raw excellence, as this green young nation is, he was everyman. Through the worst of his speeches shone a conviction that carried more power than all the smooth proprieties assembled since the East began directing stares down its nouveau nose toward the crudities of the Western plains.

And occasionally he made a brilliant, flashing speech. He did it at a breakfast in Chicago during the last Republican convention when he flailed the small wheat of the Rockefeller-Nixon deal with demands for America to march the middle road and to shun the gutters of the extreme right or left.

He made perhaps his most penetrating speech in the farewell address of Wednesday. The man is giving up the seals of office today but the nation must hold to those two things he left us:

Abroad—"We must learn how to compose differences, not with arms, but with intellect and decent purpose." He spoke his own disappointment, but not a diminished resolve. "The conference table, though scarred by many past frustrations, cannot be abandoned for the certain agony of the battlefield."

At home—We must recognize and resist the grave implications of great industrial and great military combinations. "We must guard against the acquisition of unwarranted influence, whether sought or unsought, by the military-industrial complex. The potential for the disastrous rise of misplaced power exists and will persist. We must never let the weight of this combination endanger our liberties or democratic processes. We should take nothing for granted. . . . We must be alert to the . . . danger that public policy could itself become the captive of a scientific-technological elite." Instead the people must mold those forces of money and power into the unselfish and brotherly framework of our democratic principles.

To the end the earnest man with the good face strove to hold America to the simple virtues under the onslaught of sophistication. That was his greatness.

The Good and Bad Are Emphasized

WASHINGTON—Put together some things that mix very oddly—or rather do not mix at all—and you have that incredible melange which is Washington in the inaugural season. Here there is a dollar-grabbing so determined and graceless as to carry our good free enterprise tradition to a point extreme enough to shake the toughest free-enterpriser who ever lived.

Here is a kind of feverish climbing—social climbing and political climbing—in the face of which men and women of taste have only two possible sources: to grind the teeth, which does no real good; or to laugh aloud.

The hotel and car-hire people and so on are working the visiting gold lode no less industriously than did the forty-niners a century and more ago in California. And no nonresident could readily credit the volume of name-dropping that goes on, from famous hostesses' tables down to the ill-lit booths in frowsy little beer taverns, about Good Old Jack and Good Old Lyndon.

Still, all this is only one side of the medal, that side which presents the worst of our national characteristics.

There is the other side, which shows the best that is in us. For right alongside the atmosphere of the touring carnival—where the fast buck and the fast "operation" are all too valued—there is an aura of the highest and most unsordid of national purpose and dreams.

There is a somber, steady sense of dedication for a nation which must now resume—and strengthen, if possible—its high mission as the leader of that part of the world which is free. For every sucker who is "taken" on the midway, in the way that is our immemorial custom wherever large and careless crowds may gather, there are at least two sober and serious Americans who see this as the grandest passage in the American public ritual.

This, to them, is our equivalent of a British coronation; our time of cavalcade, when our past marches by in review along with our present and future; our hour of national revival and national reconciliation; our moment of might and majesty, of hope and glory.

It is only on these rare occasions of a presidential inauguration that we can see plainly the rich mixture of our country—its possibly "bad" and certainly crude side; its undoubtedly good and profoundly responsible side, that side which, as the old saying truthfully goes, is after all the hope of this earth.

We ought, then, to sense the depth of our good fortune, as well as the weight of our obligations and the sharpness of our problems.

Space Program: Is It Worth It?

WASHINGTON—Why has the Eisenhower administration spent well over a billion dollars and why is the Kennedy administration planning to spend more to explore outer space? Are we just trying to match the Russians in a search for illusive prestiges? Or is this a wise and prudent investment for practical ends which serve the interests of all of us?

My judgement is that the expanding program is useful in the extreme and that the progress we have been making during the past two years under Keith Glennan is now beginning to pay off not only in recovered scientific prestige for the United States, but also in terms which can soon be measured in dollars and cents.

Our space accomplishments are beginning to compare more than favorably with the Russians'. We have lacked the "spectaculars"—the first Sputnik, the first moon probe, the first photographs of the moon—but with the Saturn we will before long have a launching vehicle capable of producing a 1,500,000-pound thrust for the heaviest planetary orbits. Wernher von Braun, director of the Huntsville Center, who is not easily satisfied with the pace of our progress, now agrees that not only are our scientific flights more numerous than the Soviets', but that "our total scientific achievement has been more solid."

But what next? Part of the U.S. time table reads like this:

This year two astronauts in flight—a preliminary suborbital flight (100 miles up, 200 miles in distance) and then a man in space—and recovery.

In 1962 the launching of a planetary spacecraft and in 1963 a soft landing of instruments on the moon.

In 1964 the launching of an orbiting astronomical observatory, and the heavy-thrust Saturn is to be available in 1965—if not sooner.

By the end of the 60's, bigger dreams will be attainable — a spacecraft in orbit about another planet and the probability of a manned landing on the moon.

The purpose of all this? Is it just to prove that the world does not have to look to the Communists for scientific eminence? That is plenty. That is vital. But there are more, very usable developments for practical benefit to all of us here and now:

Meteorological satellites are at the point of achieving weather prediction capable of averting vast loss of life, preventing costly crop destruction and saving enormous sums of money.

Reconnaissance satellites will, on the word of von Braun, give the United Sates "a permanent missile watch over the whole surface of the globe and make a surprise missile attack forever impossible."

If there ever was a valid reason for the federal government to use tax money as risk capital to create profitable dividends for the whole nation, the space program is it.

Demorest — I want to be among the first to welcome the new students to our great University, and to extend my personal good wishes to them both. This is a momentous occasion, as they well know. They have both shown poise and promise as young people who will be great leaders when they graduate from the university. Naturally, their conduct on the campus and off will be of public interest. At times life will not be easy and on these occasions they should remember they are making important history. We want them also to be always aware of our love and confidence in them. We are proud to have them at the university.

Montreal, Canada — Sometimes when I read and see on TV the way you are treating some of the colored people, I am almost ashamed of my color. Yes! It is white. Surely there is enough room for all of us in this world? I am certain that God meant there to be. So why can't you all learn to get along better with your fellow men, yes, even if their color and creed is different to your own.

Are you asked to take them into your homes and entertain them because they seek knowledge? Please give them a fair chance and see what they can do to help make a better America. I am not an American, but Canadian, born in England, and when I see what can happen because of these so-called small minds my blood runs cold. I am sure you all remember what happened in Germany and Japan only too well, through intolerance. Was not that a real good lesson to the world at large?

A. M. B.

Atlanta — Many people have been saying that the students should be nice to the Negroes in the University of Georgia—"treat them as you would want to be treated," etc. Under normal conditions, this would be a fine philosophy, but this is certainly not a normal situation! These Negroes are forcing themselves into a place where they are not wanted!

Washington, D.C.—Communism certainly hit the University of Georgia and the United States a terrific blow in Athens last week. A fine image for projection to the uncommitted nations of Africa and other parts of the world in this critical era. And the police were conspicuous by their absence and their failure to interfere, even when they did put in an appearance.

LONG-TIME GEORGIAN.

Albion, Mich.—Tonight I saw on TV a Klansman hiding behind a mask and saying, "It is time we defended the right of the white man."

I agree with him. I think the Klan should go to Africa and see what they can do to promote better race relations so that the white people of the Congo, of Algeria and of Kenya are not driven from their homes.

DAVID D. MORRIS

P.S.—If it's anything to you, I am descended from folks that arrived in Boston in 1620, a year after the first Negroes.

Suches—Across our state there are reverberations of this one theme: "I believe in segregation but . . ." Then the writer or speaker will continue to say that while he does not like the idea of integration, he would prefer token integration in preference to having the public schools and colleges closed.

While this is superior to the often rabid and inane pronouncements previously made by many of our political and civic leaders, such statements, nevertheless, fall short of being worthy of commendation because they remain as clap-trap designed to win more applause from the masses whose own attitudes have changed to just this extent.

Is there not at least one person in a position to exert influence who believes in public integration, not because there is no lawful alternative, but rather because he does believe in the ideals of justice and human dignity?

BARBARA J. HARKINS.

Atlanta—The Constitution is full of letters vilifying the governor, the legislature, and all who are not in agreement with your editorial policy. I would like to go on record as being in hearty agreement with certain members of the legislature in condemning the action of some members of the university faculty for attempting to muzzle and browbeat students who wish to protest the dictatorial edicts of the courts.

I agree also with the "Reverend" M. L. King, who has said that a law which is not a good law should not be obeyed, and any edict of a court NOT ELECTED by nor responsible to the people is no law at all.

MARY HAMMOND

Dahlonega—Having just read a column-long proclamation by the governor of what once was "The Great State of Georgia," my conviction is he could have said in one sentence the same thing, so instead of six "Whereases" and 500 empty words he could have used one as follows:

Whereas, finding I cannot (or will not) disarm a mob within one hour's ride of my office, therefore, in order to prevent two helpless young people being injured, or possibly lynched, I hereby order my helpless troopers to remove said two people from the proximity of said mob.

R. C. MEADERS.

Atlanta—I am tired of hearing the invalid argument that integration deprives white people of their rights of association. Sitting in a classroom with a Negro and listening to a lecture is not associating any more than standing in an elevator or in a line at a bank with a Negro is associating.

Negroes have a legal right to sit in classrooms with whites. Whether or not these white people choose to associate with them is their own decision, and no court has made any attempt to deny them this individual right.

F. EUGENE DEKLE.

Atlanta—What is the question before us? Segregation? That question has been answered, first by the court and the Bill of Rights, second by world opinion, which today condemns segregation no less emphatically than a century ago it condemned slavery, and third by the fact—well known to educators—that the supporters of segregation are fewer in each new generation and are fewest among the highly educated.

The burning question now is, how shall we choose as between riots and dignity in public life, as between educational decay and advance or between economic decay (as in Little Rock) and advance? A nation which chooses foolishly in these matters must expect either to take orders from nations which choose wisely, or to go down with them in a mad war of universal destruction. Survival of freedom and the good life, not simply for white Americans but for Americans, perhaps for mankind, that is the practical issue. As Franklin said, if we do not hang together we shall hang separately. This applies to the members, whatever their racial or other differences, of the Free World.

Saint Agnes Shares the Day

"St. Agnes Eve — ah, bitter chill, it was! The owl, for all his feathers, was a-cold; . . ." John Keats wrote that 150 years ago. He was talking about Jan. 20. That was St. Agnes Day. She was the patron of young girls. The belief was, if a maiden went to bed without her supper and looked heavenward all night, turning head neither to right or to left, she would see in her dream the "man of her dreams."

"Miss America" wakes up now, on Jan. 20, 1961, hand entwined in that of a touseled-headed Irishman named Jack Kennedy.

America watches and hopes that the young man will look neither too far to the right or to the left.

Indeed, they would remind him of another tall, touseled-headed new president, who said on inauguration in 1801: "A wise and frugal government, which shall restrain men from injuring one another, shall leave them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and shall not take from the mouth of labor, the bread it has earned. This is the sum of good government."

SWISS CHIEF: Jack Kennedy has at least one thing in common with Tom Jefferson besides height. Jefferson's Secretary of Treasury, and a good one, was Albert Gallatin, born in Switzerland.

So was Douglas Dillon, the JFK choice for Treasury — because his parents happened to be there at the time.

The Kennedy inauguration, by the way, comes 160 years to the day after the appointment as Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court of the Virginian who was to do more than any other justice, before or after, to strengthen the constitutional position of the federal government and to enhance the prestige of the court.

That was John Marshall.

Nobody Wants to Die Alone, In Electric Chair at Prison

This day will be no different because a man will die. But it is the way he will die. On this Friday, Jan. 20, a weak-willed and backward young man will sit in a cell on death row at Reidsville. Sometime between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. the call will come and he will be led into a room where stands an electric chair. Electrodes will be placed at his head and at the ankles and the 24-year-old will get a chance to say a last piece. If the talk is his usual one it will be something about the state killing him, the futility and failure in this, and how, if it really helped, he would gladly give his life to bring back the man he shot-gunned down in cold blood.

But even as Roy Lee Mullins talks he will know it is too late.

Then, there in the death chamber, there will be a last prayer.

Roy Mullins will say again that he is sorry. In simple language he will ask forgiveness for his sins. "The Lord knows," he has said, "that I didn't set out to kill nobody."

Blue Ridge policeman Hobart Brown, however, is just as dead. Escaped from a Cherokee County jail Mullins ended a night of robbery and kidnaping with murder. Backed by terror on to a lonely street at midnight Mullins added murder to his crimes with one blast from a sawed-off shotgun.

As he prays a strong and solemn plea will be spoken from the mouth of a mother—a broken-hearted mother. Frances Mullins Clark asks God to touch the hearts of the "people that are about to kill my son."

Psychiatrist ruled that the young mountain man was legally sane.

In the eyes of the mother people who have known her son all his life see it differently. "Everyone, everywhere Roy Lee has ever lived knows that he has always been mentally ill."

More than a month ago pleas of the prisoner took me to his cell. Long, lean, he lay on the floor of the Fulton County jail and told me much of his life. Roy Lee didn't say he was crazy; but he did think that he was sick. A wild boy with a checkered career of crime, he admitted that on the night of his spree he probably wouldn't have done it had he not been drinking. Hell-bent after the booze, he bragged that "someone would go with him."

There is no one with him today in that chair at Reidsville.

He is all alone.

The death call that comes today will not rock Reidsville and the little bit of electricity that it takes to kill Mullins won't mess up meters. Mullins will march in and his hard, handsome face will not be remembered except by the long-suffering soul who brought him into this world, cared for him through childhood, then stood helplessly by while a wild mind and a warped sense of values carried him into crime; into the electric chair.

I wish I had never gone to see Roy Lee Mullins in that jail cell. I wish I had never looked deep into those troubled eyes. I wish I had never heard him say that he was sorry, "that if it would bring that policeman back to his wife and his children, I would go to the chair without a word." I wish I had not heard him say, "But it won't. And I don't want to die. Nobody wants to die."

Not alone; not in an electric chair at Reidsville. And I wish I didn't have to know about it.

Roy O. McClain

Deeds, Not Words, Are Faith's Proof

"No New Year's resolutions for me," he said with cynical finality. "What is the use in nagging at yourself, expecting the impossible and coming to the end of the year without any improvement?" The same self-defeating reasoning continued as the businessman dominated the conversation.

"All this talk about going to church, about Christians changing the world is so much hokum. Where is the evidence that they are any different from anyone else?" That's the question that alerted me. "What evidence?" I walked away from that conversation with his question still ringing in my ears.

Despite the man's cynicism, the fact remains that convincing evidence of genuine Christianity is too hard to come by. Proclamations of faith are becoming easier and easier. What with mass means of communication, words are in ever-increasing volumes.

But the real need of our day is not for more proclamations but more practices. Faith can be talked to death. Its essential nature is action, something that is put to work, a dynamic turned loose. Christian faith is no religious curio to be placed as bric-a-brac on one's favorite shelf; not a Sunday morning lapel button. It is like mortar laid down between bricks, cementing things together. Akin to dynamite, one bit of faith can uproot mountains—circumstantial or otherwise.

Part of that evidence of Christian genuineness is one who sees the sacred in the secular. There is no line of difference between things holy and unholy to eyes that have been focused by God. "To the pure all things are pure." Every blade of grass becomes a quill to write the dimensions of God's love. To this type of discerning soul Saturday retains the sacred aspect of Sunday, and for that matter, all other days of the week.

Religion is no special cloak worn to hallow the precincts of religion at the expense of the sweat shop, classroom or factory. A Christian is not two-faced. There is something sacred in all things: A plowstock becomes a pulpit, a book in geography becomes a compass to chart God's handiwork; every mud hole becomes a mirror to reflect the stars; a common daisy is decked with enough beauty to argue convincingly for the whole of creation.

Convincing evidence? One who makes the best of it when he gets the worst of it. When life thins out to inconsequentials, when the other fellow gets ahead at the same game, leaving behind others plodding at an unadvancing pace, what is to be the loser's attitude? He simply takes a firmer grip, asks for strength to carry on, and converts every stumbling block into a stepping stone. Armed with the Divine Presence, this type of person looks straight into the ugly face of life and makes the most of it—evidence enough that something and someone have taken up residence inside him.

What in the South Would You Show a Tourist From Europe?

Horace Sutton, who writes travel pieces for The Saturday Review, had a story last week about a big "Visit the USA" push which is going to be made in Europe, come March. The aim is a 300 per cent increase in travel in America during the next four years and travel agents in such places as Frankfurt, Paris and Copenhagen are going to be literally schooled on the charms of our land and how to see them on a reasonable budget. These lessons, illustrated with chalk talks, will be broken at midday with a light American-style snack of—guess what—hamburgers, cheeseburgers, barbecued ribs and American beer.

"Packaged tours," wrote Mr. Sutton, "will be designed to bring Europeans to such centers of U.S. culture as Las Vegas, Florida, California, Arizona, New York, Washington and Niagara Falls."

At the time I read that I assumed Mr. Sutton was being very tongue in cheek when he reeled off that list of culture centers. He didn't mention anything Southern, unless you count Florida, which is only Southern in the areas not already overrun by settlers from the Midwest. Now it occurs to me that the sponsors of these tours might overlook our neck of the woods and that would be too bad—comparable, I imagine, to visiting France without going to Paris.

Still, if you pinned me down on what was worth showing a visitor from some of the real culture centers of the world—Rome, for instance—I'd be mighty timorous about making up a list.

Like the untutored in any field, I'd be a strictly I-know-what-I-like guide. But if Mr. Sutton will forgive me, I do know what I like. In the manner of his poem beginning, "May I tell you what delights me?", there's this:

I know what I like. The smell of resin dripping in a tin cup in a Southern pine forest. . . . Backbones and rice cooked in an iron pot. . . . Sunup in the Okefenokee Swamp. . . . Wind in the moss of liveoaks at Darien. . . . St. Simons Island and Jekyll. . . . Bienville Square in Mobile. . . . Children masking at Mardi Gras. . . . Anything to eat in New Orleans. . . . Red beans and rice and shrimp jambalaya. . . . The serenity of Savannah's little parks. . . . The traffic on the river. . . . The color of Georgia soil. . . . Terrible, wonderful, never the same Atlanta weather. . . . Dogwood trees in any season. . . . People who sell flowers on the street. . . . The Spartan simplicity of plain, white country meeting houses. . . . Wild crabapple groves in the spring. . . . Mockingbirds on moonlight nights. . . . Boiled peanuts and tobacco auctions. . . . Cane grindings and country fairs. . . . A walk down Decatur street. . . . Lunch at the Coach House. . . . Pecan groves and cotton fields. . . . And railroad trains and church bells. . . . The verdant green hills and flashing streams of the north Georgia mountains. . . . Open air watermelon stands in the summertime. . . . Peaches ripening and banks of dogtooth violets blooming. . . . Pawley's Island hammock makers and their hammocks and . . . well, never mind, you'd just confuse those travel agents.

Bowles Pledges to Defend Chiang, Opposes China Seat

By WARREN DUFFEE

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chester Bowles Thursday firmly opposed U.S. recognition of Red China or its admission to the United Nations and said, "We are going to defend Formosa—whatever the cost, whatever the risk."

The testimony by the former governor, congressman and ambassador won him an unofficial vote of confidence from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to be undersecretary of state in the Kennedy administration.

Bowles, who has been accused of favoring a two-China policy which would kill Nationalist hopes of ever returning to the mainland, said the Peiping regime "has selected the United States as its adversary and No. 1 enemy."

Asked bluntly by Sen. John J. Sparkman, D-Ala., if he would favor recognizing the Chinese Communists, Bowles said, "I don't believe we should and I have said so on many occasions."

He said the Reds would couple any such action with a demand that Chiang Kai-shek's island stronghold of Formosa be made part of the mainland and "obviously we would not stand for that." He then said Formosa should be protected at all costs.

He was more cautious in discussing the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, which were a major campaign issue. He said President-elect John F. Kennedy must solve that problem and "I don't want to say anything to make the problems of the new President more difficult."

Bowles did say that responsibility for easing tension in the Formosa Strait should be spread "more broadly." He explained that if an agreement could be reached neutralizing the area, "I don't think that would be running away."

He quickly added, however, that "we should not under any circumstances retreat under fire" if fighting breaks out in the area. Kennedy during the campaign questioned the value of the islands—except as they are related to the defense of Formosa.

Bowles also was asked if the United States should withdraw from the United Nations if Red China were admitted—a reference to testimony Wednesday by Adlai E. Stevenson that it may prove impossible to keep the Communists out.

"Under no circumstances, in my humble opinion, should the United States withdraw from the United Nations," Bowles replied. He said there have been times when the world organization was seen as a weak hope for peace but that this country must try to make it strong.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A couple of men with Irish names visited the White House Thursday on special mission: John Fitzgerald Kennedy to prepare for a new job and Treasury Courier Timothy O'Sullivan to deliver President Eisenhower's last pay checks.

With Kennedy scheduled to take the presidential oath at noon Friday, iEsenhower collected salary and expenses for 19½ days in January. Before deductions, the final payment totaled $8,125.

U.S. Stirred Crisis, Says Laos Leftist

(Copyright 1961, the New York Times Co.)

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia—Souvanna Phouma, former premier of Laos, Thursday bitterly blamed the United States in general and Undersecretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs J. Graham Parsons in particular for the bloody tragedy in Laos.

In an exclusive interview with a Times reporter, Souvanna shook his head contemptuously and dismissed Prince Boun Oum's government as illegal and "a group of clowns."

He dismissed the proposed return of the International Control Commission to Laos as a stopgap measure. Instead he advocated the ideas of his host, Prince Norodom Sihanouk Menaly, that the big powers should agree to form a neutral buffer zone out of both Cambodia and Laos.

He stated categorically he won't resign as premier despite the fact the Soviets are exploiting his failure to do so to supply arms to rebel Capt. Kong Le.

$1 Million for Zoo Proposed in House

Rep. Smith Asks Addition Of Bird House, Snake Display

By MARION GAINES

A showcase for snakes and a birdhouse for the befeathered would be added to the Grant Park Zoo with revenue from a bill introduced Thursday in the Georgia HHouse.

2. Pay a $4 fee (now $2) to any Atlanta policeman appearing in Municipal Court as a witness for the city or state.

McClelland said the delegation "might have to reconsider" the proposed fee raise for policemen inasmuch as the city comptroller has estimated it could cost the city an additional "quarter-million or half-million" dollars per year.

WIDOW BENEFITS

Sens. Charlie Brown of Fulton and W. Hugh McWhorter of DeKalb have introduced before the Senate a bill to expand compensation benefits now extended to widows of City of Atlanta firemen and policemen.

Brown explained that a widow now receives a full year of her husband's salary plus three-fourths of the pension on which he would have retired.

Only effect of the pending legislation, said Brown, would be to give a widow the full pension benefits earned by her late husband "until she remarries or until her youngest child becomes 16."

Sen. Brown also has introduced a bill that would extend the term of office for the City of Hapeville's mayor and councilmen who now serve only two years, to four years.

The Dill women provide an estimated $1 million for capital improvements at the zoo over a five-year period.

Fulton Rep. M. M. (Muggsy) Smith said House Bill 160 would allocate to the zoo for 1961-65 one-half of the City Parks Department's half-mill tax that provides some $450,000-$500,000 yearly for permanent improvements in Atlanta's parks.

"This is simply a continuation of a bill that was approved five years ago and which expired this year," said Smith.

NO ANIMAL BUYING

Parks Director George Simons pointed out that the funds can be used "for improvements only, not for buying any animals."

Attractions to be added at the zoo in the next few years, he said, include a birdhouse, a snakehouse, a "children's zoo (with "little animals they can walk among"), a new refreshment building and some "hooved animal displays."

"Right now, we're finishing up some bear moats and sea lion pools and expect to open 'em by next summer," Simons added.

OTHER BILLS

Smith was joined by Fulton Reps. Wilson Brooks and Ralph McClelland Thursday in offering bills to:

Increase from three to four the number of assistant solicitors under Fulton Criminal Court Sol. John I. Kelly. (The solicitor's staff would not actually be expanded, it was explained, since the court's accusation clerk would become the fourth assistant solicitor.)

TRAFFIC TANGLED, TOO

Georgians Caught By Capital Blizzard

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Several hundred Georgians, here for President-elect John F. Kennedy's inauguration Friday, were caught up Thursday night in an unfamiliar snowstorm and a monstrous traffic jam.

For at least one Georgian, however, the day brought a great thrill at a reception in honor of the governors of the 50 states at the Sheraton Park Hotel.

President-elect Kennedy and Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson paid a visit to enormous Sheraton Hall and made rounds of the booths of the various governors.

In the absence of Gov. Ernest Vandiver, Georgia's booth was manned by Griffin Bell, the governor's chief of staff; Dr. Bruce Schaeffer of Toccoa, State Highway Commissioner Clark Duncan and Mrs. Duncan of Buena Vista and Carl Gillis, from Adrian.

Mrs. Bruce Schaeffer, Democratic National Committeewoman from Georgia, was attending a meeting of the Democratic National Executive Committee when Kennedy and Johnson visited the Georgia booth.

But for pretty Mrs. Sue Duncan, it was one of the thrilling moments of her life when she shook hands with Kennedy and got a warm smile from the president-elect.

Retired Fulton Employe Killed in Crash in Rain

A retired Fulton County employe was killed Thursday when the car he was driving and a truck collided on rain-slick U. S. 19 near Alpharaetta.

He was William Atticus Brand, 78, of Alpharetta.

Patrolman J. A. Thompson said a car driven north on U.S. 19 by Mr. Brand began to skid and collided with a truck driven south by Eugene F. Driskell of Doraville.

The car driven by Mr. Brand went over an embankment after the collision, Thompson said, and the truck crossed the road and went up an embankment.

Driskell was treated at Emory University Hospital for lacerations and bruises.

Thompson said the truck driver told him he pulled as far over as he could seeking to miss the skidding auto. He said the force of the impact knocked the motor from the auto and hurled Mr. Brand out.

Mr. Brand's wife, Mrs. Lucille Brand, is an employe of the Atlanta Police Department identification Bureau.

The collision occurred two miles north of Alpharetta.

Atlanta Boy Killed Picking Up Rifle

A 15-year-old Atlanta boy was shot and fatally injured Thursday attempting to pick up a .22-caliber rifle which he had used on a hunting trip, police said.

Everett Duncan III of 666 Hugh St., SW, was pronounced dead on arrival at Grady Hospital with a bullet wound in the chest, according to Detectives J. C. Smith and J. G. Adams.

The detectives were told that Duncan was attempting to pick up the rifle from the floorboard of an automobile in front of his home. The rifle fired and the youth staggered backwards shouting to a cousin:

"Oh, I am shot. Get me to a doctor."

The cousin, Jerald Reid, 18, of 221 Amal Drive, SE, and the boy's father, Everett Duncan Jr., rushed him to the hospital.

Reid and young Duncan had been hunting near Forest Park.

Surviving, in addition to his mother and father, are two brothers, Samuel Phillip Duncan and John David Duncan; two sisters, Miss Brenda Lucile Duncan and Miss Alma Alice Duncan, and grandfathers, John B. Phillip and Everett Duncan Sr., all of Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by J. Austin Dillon Co.

Teatime Goes Strictly Modern For Britishers

LONDON (AP)—The time-honored British tea break has been dragged bubbling and steaming into the jet age.

A business firm announced a system for distributing 13,000 cups of tea to workers on 44 floors of three adjacent office buildings in eight minutes flat.

The streamlined tea service is to be introduced at the Shell Petroleum office center on the south bank of the Thames. Each building will have four special elevators. Each elevator will carry 11 tea urns up from the kitchen. Each urn will contain 100 cups of tea.

Shell said time and motion experts calculated that the cost of the setup will be more than offset by the saving in man-hours which would otherwise be lost in slow tea breaks.

Whoo-oo! Old 203 Is Back

If plans go right, Atlantans will be able to hear the nostalgic moan of a working steam locomotive's whistle again before long.

Gainesville-Midland's steam decapod, No. 203, has been given to the Atlanta chapter of the National Railroad Historical Society by the city of Athens and will be reconditioned by the chapter to pull excursions on some of the lines out of Atlanta.

'SPORT MODEL'

No. 203, known as a "sport model" decapod because of the oversize of its 10 driving wheels, ignominiously dragged down the Seaboard track from Athens behind a diesel.

The engine will be moved from Seaboard yards to Georgia Railroad yards Friday. It will be overhauled by members of the historical society.

"We figure it will cost us somewhere between $2,500 and $4,000 to put it in tip-top shape," said Ben Bennett, project manager for the society's plan.

FOR EXCURSIONS

"When we get it fixed, it can pull—by steam, by golly— excursions for all of us who love steam locomotives," Bill Bryan, another member of the society, added.

No. 203 was used by Gainesville-Midland to haul its frieght trains between Athens and Gainesville for many years.

Candidate Drops Urban League Suit

Jack Dorsey, Atlanta plumber who says he will run for a place on the aldermanic board, Thursday dropped a court battle to halt a contribution of $1,000 by the city to the Urban League.

Dorsey's attorney, James Venable, said the action was taken when the 1961 city budget was adopted without the usual Urban League allocation.

A suit was filed in Fulton Superior Court several weeks ago to outlaw the allocation, contending that the league is "communistic and had fostered racial disturbances."

The new city budget adopted last Monday carries a department of contingencies and grants, but the $1,000 listed for the Atlanta Urban League in the 1959 and the 1960 budgets is blank for the new year.

Venable said since there is no allocation for 1961, there is no further point in pressing the court suit.

Peach Council Plans Promotion Step-Up

GRIFFIN—The Georgia Peach Council was urged Thursday to do a stepped-up job of promoting peaches to increase sales and to give greater cooperation in marketing. The council adopted a resolution to set in motion steps toward increased production of peaches, made possible by ratification of an amendment to the state convention.

Plane with 106 Crashes in NY

some of the people in. I turned right around and went back to Idlewild with four. Cars behind me took more.

"One fellow was an American, a student. Another was from Hawaii. The other two were Mexican. One kept worrying about some pictures he took that were all burning up. He kept talking about them over and over. Another was worried about some papers he had.

"One was coughing a lot. They all smelled like they had been dipped in kerosene."

Herbst said he brought the four to the Eastern Air Lines terminal, from whence they said they had left.

He said the minute he heard the plane he could tell the pilot "knew he was going in. His engines made a tremendous noise, like he was trying to rev them."

MOTORISTS GIVE AID

One passenger said that he saw some persons jump through the flames in the front of the plane and got out by way of a forward emergency door. Motorists who were driving by at the time of the crash, and residents in the neighborhood, rushed through the tall cattails and swamps to give aid.

One of the four large jets that powered the craft was torn loose by the impact and was found several hundred feet from the main wreckage. The fuselage was in several pieces.

The crash followed by a month the nation's greatest air disaster, which occurred here last Dec. 16 when two airliners collided—also in bad weather—in midair over Staten Island and brought death to 134 persons.

Apparently most of the dead in Thursday night's tragedy were in the first class section of the plane, the forward section. Most of the lucky ones had been sitting in the rear, or tourist, section of the huge craft.

Among those in the rear who survived were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Goldberg of Longmeadow, Mass. "Everybody stampeded," Goldberge said. "We got out through the rear exit door."

The Rev. Eugene Conley, pastor of Our Lady of the Skies Roman Catholic Church, gave last rites to one of the dead.

Apparently the huge craft never actually became airborne. One witness said it left a "streak of flaming kerosene like a skip bomb" after breaking through the barrier.

WRAPPED IN FLAMES

He said the front of the plane was wrapped in flames as it plunged to a halt. The fuel tanks, fully loaded for the long flight to Mexico City, apparently exploded and sent great flames soaring.

Some of the survivors stumbled across the marsh and made their way to a restaurant at the intersection of the two boulevards. Others headed for the airport center.

A fireman who was one of the first to reach the scene said the heat was so great that rescuers could get no closer than about 60 feet to the wreckage. The DC8 carries 17,600 gallons of jet fuel when fully loaded and all of this went up in flame in a short while.

Firemen reported they could get no water to direct against the fire because there are no hydrants in the marsh area. The marsh area was made even more difficult by the snow that had begun falling earlier in the day.

The horror was greatest in the first-class compartment up forward, where most of the casualties occurred. Mrs. Joyce Groper of Chestnut Hill, Mass., said she had never flown in a jet before and was braced for the takeoff.

Suddenly the wheels touched the ground," she said. "The plane seemed to skid. The pilot was trying to stop. Suddenly, the plane was in flames. There was a hole where the co-pilot was sitting. We jumped through, about eight feet to the ground."

Mrs. Groper, her husband Irving, his brother Earl Groper of Newton, Mass., and Earl's wife, Eleanor, all escaped. All were on a vacation trip to Mexico, which had been postponed twice before.

Fulton Sells 96 6 Pct.

Fulton County attained 96.6 per cent of its bond sales goal by selling $15,485,573 worth of savings bonds last yead. The goal was $16,025,000.

Georgia House Marks Secession Centennial

In an action devoid of rebel yells, Georgia House members marked the 100th anniversary of the state's secession from the union Thursday.

Floor Leader Frank Twitty introduced a resolution commemorating the meeting of the secession convention on Jan. 19, 1861, and the passage of the secession ordinance two days later.

Twitty's resolution urged "every citizen and every local community" in the state to "commemorate the valor and courage, both on the battlefield and at home, of our forebears and honor their heroic memory in true reverence and respect during the Centennial years 1961-1965."

Vacation? It Can Wait, Says Survivor craft after it struck the ground, he said.

"I remember seeing people toward the front jumping out of emergency doors — they were jumping right through the flames.

"We were among the last to get off and after we got about 50 feet from the plane, it blew up.

"I don't know how many got off, but I pray they all did," he said.

Radio Probe Of Universe Is Described

The comparatively new science of radio astronomy may answer questions that have puzzled mankind through the ages, Dr. Frank D. Drake said in Atlanta Thursday night.

In a public lecture on the Georgia Tech campus, Dr. Drake, a radio astronomer from the U.S. Observatory at Green Bank, W. Va., spoke on "The Promise of Radio Astronomy."

Dr. Drake is one of 12 science authorities sponsored by the Rich Foundation and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neely of Atlanta.

Vandiver Free-Choice Plan Is Introduced in Legislature

posals do not refer specifically to race.

And the bills would repeal several segregation statutes now on the books—including two which have been there since 1919.

If adopted as presently written, the local option bill could make it possible for Atlanta to desegregate its public schools next fall without a vote.

HOW IT WOULD WORK

Here is how the local option plan would work:

A local school board could at any time call for a referendum on the open-vs.-closed school question. The question put to the voters would not be segregation vs. integration but open schools vs. closed schools.

If the school board failed to call for a referendum, then 15 per cent of the registered voters could do so by petition. Otherwise, desegregation would proceed unimpeded.

In the event schools are suspended by such a vote, then either the board of education or 15 per cent of the registered voters could request a referendum on the question of re-opening.

FOR TUITION GRANTS

Authorities would not be required to hold more than one election in any given school year.

If schools were closed, the board of education would continue receiving state funds (for tuition grants), and compulsory attendance laws would be invalid. Teacher contracts would be honored.

The tuition grant program would work in this manner:

Every child between six and 18 would be entitled to a tuition grant, whether he lives in a segregated or desegregated school district, provided it is used for a private, non-secretarian school.

The amount would be determined by dividing total state and local funds for education by the number of pupils in the system. Funds for repaying bonds or State School Building Authority rentals could not be used.

Local boards would be allowed to set different figures for grants to elementary pupils and high school pupils.

Persons who make false statements in applying for grants would be guilty of a misdemeanor.

The proposed law would repeal the following provisions now on Georgia's statute books:

A 1919 law requiring county boards to maintain separate schools, a 1919 law requiring segregation and cutting off funds to teachers who teach desegregated classes, the 1956 system-wide and 1959 single-school closing acts, a 1955 law providing that no local system may spend funds for desegregated schools and providing for felony penalties for teachers and officials participating in desegregation, and a 1960 law forbidding cities to levy taxes for desegregated schools.

The freedom of association amendment reads:

"Freedom of association at all levels of education shall be preserved inviolate, and the General Assembly shall by taxation provide an adequate education for the citizens of Georgia."

NOT UNTIL 1962

The amendment apparently would replace the present constitutional section which reads:

"The provision of an adequate education for the citizens shall be a primary obligation of the State of Georgia, the expense of which shall be provided for by taxation. Separate schools shall be provided for white and colored races."

The proposed freedom of association amendment could not be voted on until 1962.

FOLLOWS SIBLEY PANEL

Vandiver's new school package closely parallels the recommendations made last spring by the Sibley Committee.

They are also similar to laws adopted by Virginia and North Carolina.

The fourth Vandiver proposal merely clarifies appeal methods. Federal Judge Frank Hooper has raised the question whether placement decisions of city school boards may be appealed to the State Board of Education.

The new proposal apparently would place an additional hurdle in the way of pupils seeking to transfer from one school to another. It makes no reference to race.

Legislative leaders predicted swift passage of Vandiver's school package.

The House Education Committee slated a 9:30 meeting for Monday, and the Senate Education Committee probably will take up the Senate-introduced bills Monday also.

Meanwhile Thursday the Senate passed without debate or objection a bill by Sen. Willis Conger of Bainbridge declaring that no child may be compelled to attend school with a child of another race.

Conger, close friend of former Gov. Marvin Griffin, said administration leaders had not attempted to hold up action on his bill.

Sen. Mark W. Fitzpatrick of Jefferson introduced a resolution Thursday commending a group at the university known as "Students for Passive Resistance." The group vows not to associate with the Negro students there or with whites who welcome Negroes.

Honduras Girds For Showdown

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Honduran air force planes flew over this capital Thursday en route to an unknown destination. Unofficial sources said the planes, including troop transports and fighters, were headed for the disputed frontier area with Nicaragua.

PRESIDENT AND SUCCESSOR MEET WITH RETIRING AND INCOMING CABINET OFFICIALS AT WHITE HOUSE

Kennedy Takes Oath Today In a Packed Washington

visiting Kennedy at his home in the late afternoon, the Democratic former President took a look at the weather and Washington's snow-locked streets and decided to forego the inaugural concert. Friends said Mrs. Truman insisted.

Washington had seen nothing like the inaugural storm since 1909 when William Howard Taft took the oath in a howling blizzard. Since George Washington's time, about half of the inaugurals have taken place in snow, rain, severe cold or piercing wind. In 1956 President Eisenhower caught cold at his inaugural.

IGNORES STORM

Until late in the day, Kennedy all but ignored the storm as he plowed through a crowded schedule on his last day before solemnly swearing to "preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States.

He started out at 9 a.m., by holding a final and "cordial" transition meeting with President Eisenhower at the White House. They discussed world problems ranging from the Far East to Cuba to help Kennedy in assuming his new "responsibilities."

The 43-year-old New Englander also announced the appointment of Najeeb E. Halaby, 45, onetime test pilot of Los Angeles, as head of the Federal Aviation Agency, and held a somewhat disappointing conference with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

But as snow piled up on the streets, snarling traffic and marooning thousands, Kennedy was forced to cancel an appearance at a party for Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and dinner at the home of Philip L. Graham, president and publisher of the Washington Post and Times Herald.

With harried Secret Service men and local police doing their best to clear the way, he did make it to a reception for state governors, and then, with his wife, moved on to Constitution Hall for the special inaugural concert.

Supposedly Constitution Hall was sold out. But when Kennedy and his wife entered the doors, they found most of the seats vacant, and only 40 members of the 100-member national symphony on hand. Violin soloist Mischa Elman still had not arrived. About an hour later, several hundred persons had straggled in.

The same situation applied at the star-studded gala at the National Guard Armory. The show was more than an hour late starting because of the snow. The hall, which seats 12,000, was only one-quarter full when the show opened. About 6,000 hearty Democrats were there when it ended. They contributed $100 each.

There were many mixups. Robert F. Kennedy, the president-elect's brother and the new Attorney General, arrived late and was ushered to the wrong box. He finally found his way to the family box overlooking the floor.

Inaugural officials estimated that a million people would view Kennedy's swearing-in and the three-hour parade down Pennsylvania Avenue after he takes the oath of office from Chief Justice Earl Warren at noon Friday.

Kennedy Briefed by Eisenhower

nedy replied laconically and with another grin.

Unlike their previous meeting on Dec. 6, there was no pomp in the Kennedy-Eisenhower conference.

The outgoing President and the man the voters chose to succeed him were together for a while in the presidential office, already stripped of Eisenhower's personal knicknacks.

Later, they walked to the nearby Cabinet room and joined the Eisenhower administration's secretaries of state, defense and Treasury and the Kennedy men who will take on their tasks.

Over-all, the discussions lasted more than two hours, and then the Eisenhower and Kennedy news secretaries issued a joint statement saying in part:

"The President and the president-elect met today for the second time since the election for a full discussion of the current world situation. During these discussions, the president-elect and the incoming Cabinet members who attended these meetings were brought up to date on a number of matters affecting the security of the United States.

"World areas under discussion included the Far East, Africa, Western Europe and the Caribbean."

There was no elaboration, although Kennedy later told newsmen the talks touched briefly on the gold drain problem. Domestic matters apparently did not figure in the last of the conferences preliminary to transfer of power.

As Kennedy phrased it in talking with reporters, he and three of his Cabinet nominees had "the opportunity to get the thinking of the President and the responsible officers of the government on some of the major problems facing the United States."

Kennedy attracted little notice in driving from his Georgetown home without a police escort. Only a handful of spectators saw his auto move through the west gate and pull up at the business wing of the executive mansion.

Vandiver on Way to Inauguration day night speech on segregation to the General Assembly.

"Well, I have done what I can," the governor replied.

"I am sure that I have done what I could to save education in Georgia and now it is up to the General Assembly."

The governor and his wife Betty were amused at how excited their three children, Chip, Beth and Jane, were about the trip to Washington.

The governor said that he had rented a top hat for wear in the impressive ceremonies of the inauguration Friday.

"It's the first one I ever had on," he said. "The children and I have been fooling with it all afternoon—popping the crown out and folding it back up. I sure would hate to be somewhere where I was the only one wearing one of those things, but I guess I'd feel out of place without it tomorrow."

Before leaving, Vandiver instructed State Safety Director William P. Trotter to "furnish whatever help is necessary" to quell any disturbances at the University of Georgia.

Gleason's Panel Show Still Needs That Panel

By PAUL JONES

The Jackie Gleason Show, which started out as a panel program, has developed into one of the best mysteries on television.

Nobody, not even Jackie or his personal press representative, Pete McGovern, who has anticipated most of his boss' moves for years, seems to know who's going to be on the show Friday night.

Jones

Since the program is categorized as a "panel show" it seems that someone would know which stars are going to appear as panelists. At the time this was written, CBS - TV spokesman said: "They're still fussing about that . . . it's still very much up in the air."

Since the opener is going to be "live", Gleason doesn't have to name his panel members until just before air time.

"This might be the only panelless panel show on the air," quipped the CBS-TV spokesman who had assumed an attitude of indifference about the whole thing.

A few things about the show are certain. Gleason is heading up the show. It begins at 9:30 p.m. on CBS-TV (Channel 5) and it will be called You're in the Picture.

The format calls for four stars to be seated behind a giant picture with porthole cutouts reminiscent of comedy tin-types familiar to amusement parks and country fairs.

When the panelists put their faces through the cutouts they become part of the picture, which they connot see but are asked to identify.

Gleason will swap banter with members of the panel which will consist of four different personalities each week.

THE GLEASON starter ought to be the best of the series. I say this because after the first show we'll know what he's up to and it won't be fun any more.

Possibly if we were kept in the dark about some of the other shows and they were permitted to have a touch of suspense they might prove more interesting, too.

The premiere will be "live" and you can't hardly get those kind on TV any more. Subsequent ones, I've been told, will be on tape. Well, that should put old Jackie in a bind before he even gets started.

THERE'S NO MYSTERY about which songs the orchestra is likely to play during the Inauguration Ball which TV is covering Friday night (Channels 2 and 5).

President Kennedy's favorites are "September Song" and "Greensleeves." Mrs. Kennedy prefers "The Siren Song," Jerome Kern's show tune, and a favorite of her mother's, "Down in the Depths of the 90th Floor," by Cole Porter and "One for My Baby." I'm not sure how the orchestra, which will be under the general supervision of Cliff Hall, pianist, will work these into a dance program.

Hall, who played for Mrs. Kennedy's first formal party in Newport, R.I., when she was 14 and also performed for the Kennedys' bridal dinner, has learned something about the couple's musical predilections.

"Last Christmas I learned more about which songs they like best," said Hall. "Mrs. Kennedy told me 'play September Song and Greensleeves for my husband. He loves both of those songs.' "

"They hang on the words and they both listen appreciatively with big smiles on their faces and lots of thanks after each number they ask for."

I must say that I agree with their selections more than I did with those of former President Truman who liked "The Missouri Waltz," and with President Roosevelt's favorite, "Home on the Range."

President Eisenhower never expressed a fondness for any particular selection unless it was a Sousa march.

EVELYN SATTERWHITE of Decatur, writes: "You asked for suggestions for new TV programs. Why don't we have more . . . programs like Telephone Hour, a return of the Firestone program, another similar to Lawrence Welk's in fact, anything that is educational or inspiring? Wish we could get away from so many Westerns with dirty, unkept people. I'm tired of so many gangsters. Just suggestions . . . you asked for it. . . ."

6,000 Make It To Gala

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A star-packed array of Broadway and Hollywood performers played to a half-empty house at President-elect John F. Kennedy's Thursday night.

About 6,000 hearty Democrats ploughed through the heavy Washington snowstorm to the show, however, and with most seats sold in advance at $100 a head, the production was expected to net more than $1 million for the Democratic party treasury.

STORM DELAY

The snowstorm delayed both the performers and guests. The show itself got under way at 10:30 p.m. EST, an hour and 45 minutes after its scheduled starting time.

Kennedy, accompanied by his wife Jacqueline, drew a storm of applause when he entered his box to the fanfare of "Anchors Away."

Vice President-elect and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson also attended.

On hand to entertain them and benefit the Democratic financial plight was a galaxy of stars, including an avowed Republican. The show featured such talented performers as Sir Laurence Olivier, Jimmy Durante, Helen Traubel, Ella Fitzgerald, Bette Davis and Milton Berle.

ETHEL JOINS THE FUN

The Republican is Broadway star Ethel Merman. She belted out "Everything's Coming Up Roses," the hit song from her show, "Gypsy," to the delight of the predominantly Democratic audience which had paid $100 a seat for admission.

The Democratic National Committee was hopeful of a turnout of 12,000. Money from the gala will be used to ease the $2.5 million dollar deficit incurred in Kennedy's winning campaign.

You Can Dance Into the Inaugural Ball

By THE TV SCOUT

Actually, there are several balls in several spots, but the main one, at the National Guard Armory in Washington, is the one covered Friday.

BEST BET—The social highlight of the Inauguration Day festivities—and probably of the entire Washington social season—is Friday's Inaugural Ball.

If you weren't invited, you can vicariously enjoy the doings for three-quarters of an hour.

CBS has Walter Cronkite heading a crew which will roam the floor, interviewing some of those in attendance and also giving you an over-all picture of the crowded dance floor. NBC is turning its interviewing over to a corps of correspondents aided by Dina Merrill, the talented actress who is a society figure herself.

Rosemary Clooney

It is expected that the Kennedys and the Johnsons, newly inaugurated, will put in an appearance. 11:15 - 12 Midnight (Ch. 2, 5, 11).

* * *

7-8 (Ch. 5)—Rawhide has a vague basis in fact Friday. Writer Louis Vittes based his story on a lawsuit filed in 1875 involving a rancher who sold a herd of anthrax-infected cattle. Around this, he has concocted a plot concerning the greedy rancher, his crippled wife and the cowboy who crippled her. All these people, plus the show's usual complement of valiant gunfighters, end up in a bloody and emotional finale. E. G. Marshall, in one of his first Western roles, plays the rancher.

8:30-9:30 (Ch. 5)—Tod (Martin Milner), the co-hero of Route 66, almost has his number come up Friday—and the number is .38, not 66. He's shot by a great jazz trumpeter, who is actually aiming at his wife. The boys get involved with the jazz crowd at Malibu Beach, where this was filmed, and the interiors are actually those of the Drift Inn, a jazz hangout. Playing the trumpet (for actor Jack Lord) is Pete Candoli, a fine horn. Anne Francis is the wife who is Lord's intended target.

9-10 (Ch. 2)—Six girls are featured on The Bell Telephone Hour, backed up by a chorus of male singers, a quintet of male jazz stars, a male orchestra and orchestra leader, and some fine male composers.

The gimmick is that "Music Hath Charms," and the six ladies will each perform the works of a composer. Sally Ann Howes sings Jerome Kern; Valerie Bettis dances to Duke Ellington melodies; Rosemary Clooney sings Irving Berlin; Mildred Miller sings arias from Bizet's "Carmen"; Jeanmaire dances to Lehar's "Marry Widow" and Dolores Gray sings and dances to Cole Porter tunes.

Walter Cronkite

10-10:30 (Ch. 11)—Robert Taylor in The Detectives tries a comedy Friday night, with a "passel" of second cousins, 18 times removed, supplying both the comedy and the complications.

These are mountain kin folk of Detective Chris Ballard (Mark Goddard) who are about to finish off a feud and help cousin Chris at the same time.

The object of their feuding is a killer Ballard once sent up, who has vowed vengeance.

The chase scene at the end has a few comic touches—the mountain men sniff which way their enemy went.

10-10:30 (Ch. 5)—Having run through haunted houses and haunted people, The Twilight Zone turns F'day night to haunted cars.

Jack Carson is a high-pressure used car dealer who buys an old rattle-trap and finds that the ownership does something very strange to him.

It would spoil the fun to tell all here, but it is the worst thing that could possibly happen to a high-pressure used car dealer. However, Carson gets out of his tight spot in a way which should please everybody, even used car dealer victims.

How Do Ideas Grow? Here's One Answer

How are ideas developed?

Before you devote any serious thought to that question you might want to listen to what Earl Nightengale has to say on his radio show on WSB Friday at 10:15 a.m. He will talk about "How Do We Get Our Ideas?"

Here are some other things, including the broadcast of the presidential inauguration, that you might want to hear on radio:

10 a.m. (WGKA)—Concert in Miniature: Debussy: Preludes, Book 1—Nos. 1-6.

1 p.m. (WGKA)—Keyboard Classics. All Chopin: Barcarolle, Op. 6; Waltz No. 2 in A-Flat, Waltz No. 6 in D-Flat; Mazurka No. 35 in C; Mazurka No. 36 in A (an).

1:30 p.m. (WGKA)—Matinee Concert. Bach: Concerto No. 2 in C for Three Harpsichords; Mozart: Symphony No. 41 in C "Jupiter". Liszt: Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2.

Bing Crosby

6:30 p.m. (WSB)—Frank Stiteler plays the favorite songs of Charles H. Allen of Atlanta, and of Mrs. Lena Rogers of O'Brion, W.Va.

10:45 p.m. (WSB) — Jim Whitaker breaks out an old recording of Bing Crosby singing "Stardust." It was waxed in 1931.

3:55 a.m. (Saturday) (WSB)—The Clock Watcher offers hunting and fishing reports for Georgia sportsmen.

Becomes Hour Show Next Fall

Gunsmoke Shooting For Greater Scope

By VAL ADAMS

(Copyright 1961 by The New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK—If a half-hour television program has been popular for nearly six years, can it be twice as popular by expanding to an hour? CBS will find an answer next fall when Gunsmoke becomes an hour-long show.

The expanded western, which will continue to star James Arness as Marshal Matt Dillon, will be televised on Saturdays from 10 to 11 p.m. In addition, reruns of the half-hour Gunsmoke films will be retitled and presented on Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m.

James Arness

CBS said the hour-long Gunsmoke would give the series "added scope in terms of greater character and plot development." It also will give the network a chance to capture a half-hour time period (10:30 to 11 p.m.) now utilized by stations for local programming.

Under its network option-time plan, CBS now provides programs to affiliates on Saturday night from 8 to 10:30 o'clock. The stations are free to fill the other hours with their on programs, although there is nothing to prevent their taking a network show if they so choose.

According to the latest rating report of the A. C. Nielsen Company, Gunsmoke is the highest rated program on the air. It has been listed among the top shows since its debut in the fall of 1955.

CBS said the rebroadcasts of Gunsmoke on Tuesday from 7:30 to 8 p.m., a time period not now programed by the network, would be made available "for local station sale." The network would thus be furnishing a program in station option time in return for the half-hour relinquished by stations on Saturday evenings.

TV Offers Inaugural Beginning at 11 a.m.

WASHINGTON — Televiewers will see President John F. Kennedy from all but one angle during the inauguration ceremonies beginning at 11 a.m. (all TV stations). They will not see a picture taken from behind; no one has ever seen such a picture of any president.

The Secret Service, which is responsible for safeguarding the President, doesn't like anything behind the President. And that includes TV cameras.

Probers Rap University Ban On Gatherings

A House subcommittee in a report released Thursday criticized the strict anti-demonstration regulations imposed upon students by University of Georgia officials.

The report also asserted that the large number of newsmen covering the desegregation events "added greatly to the state of confusion . . . and has done more to attract large crowds than the presence of Charlayne Hunter herself."

POSING CHARGED

It charged that certain photographers urged students "to pose in an attitude indicating violence purely for the sake of giving . . . a sensational picture."

The subcommittee's only recommendation was that suspended students "be treated with leniency and compunction" because they were "under severe emotional strain."

(The legislature already has urged reinstatement of 13 suspended students. The subcommittee endorsed the resolution.)

Speaker George Smith praised the committee for what he called "the best and fairest reports to all sides that I have ever seen."

The committee interviewed students, university officials, Athens townspeople and city officials.

"All persons interviewed, including officials and students, agreed that the students were being deprived of their right to organize or assemble for the purpose of voicing their displeasure over integration, although other persons not members of the student body, including news personnel, are free to voice their opinions . . ." the report asserted.

"Some students," it added, "although agreeing in principle in the right of free assembly and speech, think certain restraints are necessary under the existing circumstances."

The report stated that President O. C. Aderhold told the committee last Saturday "that students would be allowed to assemble, demonstrate and voice their displeasure with regard to the integration of the university so long as persons and property were not injured and there was no violence."

STRICT RULES

Later in the day, it continued, the university issued strict anti-assembly and anti-demonstration rules.

"This change in policy occurred between Friday, Jan. 13, 1961, and Monday, Jan. 16, 1961, although this committee was not able to determine any change during this period," it added.

The report also said that "reports from students indicate that a number of professors and instructors are bringing pressure on students not to demonstrate or take any active part in displaying their dissatisfaction with the integration . . ."

The committee delivered to the speaker a list of the 405 faculty members who signed a petition backing university disciplinary policy and insisting on reinstatement of two Negroes.

NO CHOICE IN HOUSING

The report said that attorney B. D. Murphy, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook and others had advised that the university had no choice under U.S. Judge W. A. Bootle's order but to provide dormitory space for Negro coed Charlayne Hunter.

The only space available to her, it added, were:

1. A single room in Soule Hall, where she would have to share a bathroom with white girls.

2. A study hall where she would have to share bedroom and bath facilities with white girls.

3. The rooms she now occupies in Center Myers dormitory with private bath and kitchenette facilities.

The report said university officials testified that they accompanied the Negroes about campus to "orient" them and "to keep the newsmen and photographers away . . ."

C of C Raps Sheriffs' Salary Bill

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

A Georgia Chamber of Commerce official Thursday termed the Senate bill to change sheriffs from fees to salaries too "watered down" to "merit our consideration."

The comment came from Larry D. Lloyd, manager of the chamber's travel council, who said the pay bill in its present form would not serve its purpose of combatting speed traps.

The chamber has been pushing for a bill to abolish the fee system and to put all Georgia sheriffs on salaries as a means of combatting speed traps.

NOT COMPULSORY

The bill before the Senate is noncompulsory in nature, becoming effective in each county on approval of county governing authorities. The chamber "wanted a statewide mandatory bill to abolish the fee system," Lloyd explained.

At the same time, he said, proposed amendments which would allow counties to return to the fee system if they wanted to would further weaken the bill.

One critic of the Senate bill has been Sen. Robert H. Smalley Jr. of Griffin, whose fellow legislators in the House have introduced a bill to give the State Patrol exclusive jurisdiction over speeding arrests on federal highways.

AGENTS OF PATROL

The bill by Reps. Quimby Melton Jr. and Arthur Bolton designates proper county and municipal law enforcement officers as agents of the State Patrol to make arrests for speeding on federal highways.

But it gives the director of the State Department of Public Safety the right to revoke their authority in case of abuses. Public Safety Director W. P. Trotter reportedly dislikes this provision because it makes him a "judge and a jury."

The idea behind the bill, it was understood, is to give the patrol control over speeding arrests on federal highways through the state because 95 per cent of all speed trap complaints occur on federal highways.

Bill Urges A Separate Mental Unit

By MARION GAINES

Creation of a State Department of Mental Health was proposed in the Georgia House Thursday as reorganization of the state's mental health setup.

The radical departure from the present mental health program, which is administered by the State Health department, was submitted in a bill offered by Representatives Culver Kidd and Philip Chandler of Baldwin County, home of the giant state mental hospital.

Unless Gov. Vandiver's feelings on the subject have mellowed, Rep. Kidd's proposal appears to stand slight chance of winning approval at this General Assembly session.

Kidd's bill would create a five-man state mental health commission to govern a State Mental Health Department completely separate from the State Health Board and department.

Under Kidd's bill, a newly created mental health department would administer the 12,000-patient Milledgeville State Hospital, the Gracewood Training School for Mental Defectives, the State Hospital for Alcoholics and facilities at Reidsville State Prison for treating patients there.

PROVIDES CLINICS

The mental health commission also would be authorized to establish mental health clinics and treatment centers.

Another bill laid before the House Thursday by Rep. Kidd would amend the Georgia Prison Industries Act to permit the State Corrections Board to make and sell "appropriate automobile license plates" to Georgia veterans' organizations, the proceeds to go "exclusively for educating, vocational training and rehabilitation of all prisoners. . ."

Newton County Rep. W. D. Ballard put forth a bill to realign the House of Representatives in accord with the 1960 census. (The state's eight largest counties elect three House members, the next 30 largest elect two and the remaining 121 elect one representative each.)

SECOND TERM ASKED

Under the 1960 census, Dougherty County moves into the eight-county group that has three House members while Floyd County's representation is sliced from three to two.

A resolution authored by Chattooga County Rep. James Floyd would permit Georgia governors to succeed themselves in office but wouldn't let them serve more than eight years in a row.

A bill offered by Cobb Rep. Harold Willingham provides that cancellation of a voter's registration for not having voted within a two-year period be changed to apply to persons not voting in a four-year period.

$400 Rise Forecast for Teachers

20 Senators Back Bill, Dykes Says

A south Georgia senator Thursday confidently predicted passage of a bill he introduced in the Senate providing for a $400 pay raise for Georgia school teachers beginning July 1.

If granted, the pay increase would cost the state $12 million. But Sen. Jimmy Dykes of Cochran—who claims endorsement of his bill by more than 20 senators—said he feels "the raise can be given without any raise in taxes at the present time."

Meanwhile Thursday, Georgia Education Association officials pressed for legislators to override Gov. Vandiver's budget recommendations and to provide a sizeable pay increase for teachers.

NO PROMISES

Members of the House Education Committee expressed sympathy to the teachers but made no promises. Rep. Dorsey R. Matthews of Colquitt County, however, pledged to fight any pay increase for any state or county officers until teachers get a raise.

Sen. Dykes said he had been waiting to see if there would be a Vandiver administration bill to provide a pay increase for teachers, "but up to the present time it seems there will be none."

If there is going to be any effort made at all to raise teacher salaries, "I feel like it will have to be done immediately," he added.

$200 IN WORKS

Gov. Vandiver's budget message provided for a $200 raise for teachers in July if the state's economic condition improves enough to bring about a tax income materially greater than current estimates.

Funds for the pay raise, Dykes said, would come from a normal increase in the collection of sales taxes and more efficient collection of income taxes.

At the same time, he said that it seems sure Congress will raise the minimum wage floor from $1 to $1.15, increasing the purchasing power of Georgia workers and causing an increase of "several million dollars" in sales taxes.

"GOD BLESS HIM"

GEA Executive Secretary Frank Hughes said of Dykes' bill: "God bless him."

But he added that for the bill to be meaningful, it should be drawn as an amendment to the governor's appropriations bill.

GEA leaders told the House committee that in view of the number of teachers quitting because of poor pay there is no need to worry about school integration.

PUSHES FOR $500

Urging at least a $500 a year raise, GEA legislative committeeman E. P. Staples of Perry commented:

"If you do less than that, we can stop worrying about integration and start folding up the schools because we just won't have the teachers."

GEA President E. C. Mitcham Jr. said 2,600 Georgia teachers have quit since schools opened last fall, and the number leaving will total between 5,000 and 6,000 by the time schools open next fall.

CHILDREN SUFFER

One GEA official, a county school superintendent, said it's really the children who suffer because of the teacher pay situation.

It's the best teachers who are quitting," leaving the poor ones behind to educate the state's youth, he commented.

Hughes said they're also pressing for more local tax money to be used to pay teachers.

He said the GEA has been fighting for property re-evaluation and equalized taxes for five years.

Vandiver, State Sigh with Relief

the courts . . . public schools faced a crisis . . . bills came along that would keep them open.

Negro students were admitted to the university . . . riots . . . they were withdrawn . . . put them back, said the courts . . . they were back . . . fire some faculty members, said the Legislature . . . "We cannot abandon public education," said the governor.

The man who could keep true perspective in the midst of all that would have to have a lot better than 20-20 vision. But there have been some memorable vignettes in the whirl:

Vandiver, in the center of a whirlwind, was taking no chances of a breakdown in communications when the Negroes returned to the University of Georgia and 100 troopers stood by to quell any riots.

Instead of having the state troopers at the mansion answer the phone Monday night, as is the usual custom, the governor answered it himself.

His voice was calm, and it had the ring of authority that indicated more than anything else could have that he had decided to act on the school crisis.

Then there was the little lady on the bus late Wednesday night, pronouncing the words as she read the text of the governor's speech on the common schools.

"The means," she told the driver as she returned his borrowed paper, "the girls are going to get educated."

Perhaps the most significant comment of the week, however, came in the House at about 12:40 p.m. Thursday, as the legislators adjourned for the weekend.

"Well, that's it," many sighed. They probably summed up as well as anything else could the relaxation after the tensions the state has lived with recently.

The comment also summarized what they thought of the governor's solution to the school crisis. They will be back Monday ready to vote for it.

Senator Asks Unmarked Patrol Cars

A new effort to allow the use of unmarked patrol cars on Georgia highways was introduced in the Senate Thursday, but legislative leaders saw little chance for passage.

The bill was authored by Sen. Samuel U. Braley of Dallas. One administration legislative leader emphasized Gov. Vandiver will not offer such legislation.

The proposed bill would repeal a provision in the Uniform Traffic Code which requires distinct markings on each side and the rear of patrol cars.

25 Crimes in Georgia Carry Death Penalty, House Told

Georgians may be put to death for any one of 25 different crimes, ranging from murder and treason to grave robbing and snake handing, so Rep. Thomas B. Murphy of Haralson County, pointed out in the Georgia House Thursday as he gathered new support for his bill to abolish capital punishment.

The Murphy bill, along with one from Rep. M. M. (Muggsy) Smith of Fulton which would limit the death penalty to defendants 18 and older, is expected to be aired at a public hearing before the House Welfare Committee at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

"I've been very much encouraged by the interest shown in my bill by many members of the House," Rep. Murphy, a freshman legislator and Bremen attorney, said. "I believe its' going to get more support than I hoped for at first."

Rep. Smith already has promised to support the Murphy bill in preference to his own. Rep. Murphy would substitute life imprisonment as punishment for offenses which now call for death by electrocution.

These include: Treason, insurrection, murder, foeticide (person advising woman to kill infant), castration, rape, kidnaping for ransom, burning railroad bridge, arson causing death, destroying or injuring house with explosive substance resulting in death, destroying or injuring house within any city or town with explosive substance, destroying or injuring house not within a city or town with explosive substance.

Robbery by open force or violence, perjury or false witness causing death, mobbing, lynching or mob violence causing death, tampering with life line or preserver causing death of person, wrecking or attempting to wreck trains or cars causing death of another.

Death resulting from destroying, injuring or obstructing railroads, death of one person caused by handling of poisonous snake by another, death of one person caused by advising or encouraging such person to handle poisonous snake or reptile; desecration of burial place of any human being with intent to rob, steal, mutilate or maliciously molest the remains of the human body interred therein; robbery by use of an offensive weapon; conviction for a second or subsequent offense for violation of Code Section 42-8 by selling or furnishing a minor with a narcotic drug.

Here's Cook's Text On School Issue

Here is the text of Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook's statement on the school segregation question:

There are three courses open to Georgia at this time: (1) Stand on existing laws. This will result in massive integration by court decree — coercive integration of the worst kind; the federal courts, relying on our present funds cut-off-laws and closing laws, will take over operation of our schools in class actions without even requiring proof of discrimination by evidence.

(2) Abolish public education altogether. This could only be accomplished by the Legislature's refusing to appropriate money for the schools. Any effort to appropriate funds subject to conditions and cut off provisions will not stand up. Not even the minority of the Sibley Committee was willing to go this far. The people would not stand for it.

The people in many rural counties might well abolish their schools to prevent integration therein, but it is clear that they would not abolish their schools merely to prevent integration in Atlanta or Macon, etc.

Even if the Legislators were to withdraw all State aid for education, Atlanta could still operate under its local funds alone and have a better system than many rural counties, as Atlanta's local participation is over six times the amount of local funds required under the M.F.P.E. Act. Thus, it is seen that the cutting off of all State funds to prevent integration in Atlanta would not only fail to accomplish this objective, but would destroy public education in the vast majority of the counties which would not be confronted with the threat anyway, and which could not operate on local funds alone.

(3) Revise our laws so as: (1) To minimize the problem so far as possible, while at the same time (2) guaranteeing, on an individual basis, that no child will be required to attend an integrated class, (grants-in-aid) and guaranteeing individual communities that they shall be given the choice of closing their schools rather than integrating, (local closing bill). Each case will then have to be tried on its merits, with evidence. Applicants will have to prosecute individual applications. This is the Governor's program.

Anyone who insists on standing by our existing laws, and who is unwilling to abolish public education altogether, must necessarily assume the responsibility for massive, wholesale integration of our public schools, and further assume the responsibility for denying grants-in-aid, which are unauthorized under existing law.

261st Well Hits At Citronelle

CITRONELLE, Ala. (AP) — The 261st producing well was being completed in the Citronelle oil field Thursday.

The well was brought in by Jett Drilling Co., Shreveport, La., on the active eastern flank of the big field. The test was drilled to a total depth of 11,520 feet and casing was set at 11,480 feet. Jett said production would be from two levels. Production figures were not yet available.

Mercer Council Hails Conduct Of Aderhold

The conduct of President O. C. Aderhold and the University of Georgia faculty in handling the integration crisis was praised Thursday by the Mercer University Council, headed by Rufus C. Harris, president of the Macon college.

The Mercer group expressed to Aderhold its "admiration of your determined purpose to support the declared law and to preserve order in obedience of it."

The council assailed "the untimely words and conduct of the critics" of Aderhold's stand, which "has been consistent with the best tradition in American education."

In a letter to Dr. Aderhold, Harris said the Mercer council also wished to convey "our shared distress at the conduct of those who have encouraged and have led persons to invade your campus and attack defenseless students, and set an un-Christian and totally unworthy example for Georgia youth."

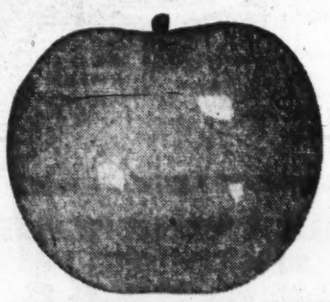
INTRODUCING

RED DELIGHT® APPLE

A NEW APPLE FOR ALL DIXIE

How far South will Apples grow well? Here's a new patented variety that is worthy of trial all over Dixie where peaches grow. It's a wonderful new discovery—a large dessert apple—good texture—white meat—beautiful red over yellow color—an excellent keeper under home refrigeration storage—splendid cooking apple being especially fine for pies. Try several in your garden now.

Discovered in middle Alabama much farther South than good apples are usually found. It bears at an early age and bears most prolifically. Be first in your neighborhood with what we predict will be the most talked about Apple in the South. Look at the cute little girl and her obvious pleasure in eating Red Delight. This is not a professional model but the daughter of our licensed Red Delight grower.



"DIXIE" RED DELIGHT®

Large dessert apple. Color bright red over a yellow undercoat all flecked with white dots. Most fruit weigh from 8 to 10 ounces with some fruit 1 pound or more. Somewhat larger than most varieties.

RED DELIGHT® RED DELICIOUS

Red Delight compared with Red Delicious showing typical shape of each. No sheep nose with Red Delight.

WE RECOMMEND YOUR TRIAL PLANTING WHEREVER PEACHES GROW

Red Delight has a late blooming habit and perhaps that is the reason for its consistent annual bearing quality. We recommend your trial planting as far South as peaches grow. It appears to be resistant to hot weather, disease and other difficulties encountered frequently in growing Apples in many parts of the South.

DESCRIPTION

Large 8 to 10 ounce dessert apple. Texture of meat is fine. Skin tender. Flavor mild but pleasantly tart when picked. Abundant juice. Less browning. Excellent keeper.

Habit of bearing is unique bearing 2 to 3 and even 4 fruits in terminal clusters in addition to usual fruiting on lateral spurs.

Growth of tree is upright and vigorous with unusually large leaves.

Branches are limber holding heavy fruit without breaking or splitting.

Ripens last week in October in the middle South but earlier farther North and in the mountains.

PRICES

INTRODUCTORY OFFER. PRICES POSTPAID. GRAFTED TREES, 3 to 4 ft. tall $3.95 ea., 3 for $10.95, 6 for $19.95, 12 for $37.95.

House GOPs Oppose Rules Panel Changes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republican leaders came out unanimously Thursday against a Democratic plan to help push President-elect John F. Kennedy's legislative program through Congress by enlarging the House Rules Committee.

Republican Whip Leslie C. Arends, Ill., predicted that the "great preponderance" of the 174 House GOP members would oppose the Democratic plan when it comes up for a floor vote, probably next week.

House Democrats overwhelmingly approved the plan, drafted by Speaker Sam Rayburn, at a party caucus Wednesday. But Rayburn is said to be counting on picking up at least 20 GOP votes on the floor to offset opposition votes by some Southern Democrats.

Rayburn's plan calls for enlarging membership of the powerful rules group to break a Southern Democratic - Republican coalition that has bottled up legislation similar to that favored by President-elect John F. Kennedy.

House GOP leaders took their stand against the Rayburn plan at a meeting of the Republican policy committee, composed of 27 key party members. They approved without dissent a resolution denouncing the proposal as an effort to "pack" the committee.

4 Arrested In Bogus Cash Trap

DUBLIN—A dozen officers, disguised as truck drivers and merchants, arrested four counterfeiting suspects Thursday as the four attempted to close a "$10,000 deal" at a busy downtown intersection.

The officers closed in with drawn guns when the four swapped a package supposedly containing $10,000 in bogus money to an elderly Crawford County man, who paid them $1,500 in genuine currency.

The "$10,000 package" contained two ten dollar bills and a stack of blank paper, Sheriff W. R. Bussell said.

NAMES WITHHELD

The officers declined to reveal the names of the suspects pending further investigation.

They also declined to identify the Crawford County man who tipped them about the money swap and acted as a decoy.

Brunswick, Authority To Confer on Docks

BRUNSWICK — Local officials will learn Friday why the Georgia Ports Authority is asking another $4 million for further expansion at Savannah while the new Brunswick state docks are idle most of the time. Robert Norman, Augusta, chairman of the authority, and A. M. Harris of Brunswick will meet in a closed session Friday with Brunswick and Glynn County leaders to discuss the proposed appropriation.

Arrow Made of Coins Leads Police to Still

ROME—Money literally led to the downfall of a moonshine operation in Floyd County. A county policeman and a revenue agent said they found a 50-cent piece, two dimes and a penny placed on the ground in the shape of an arrow in a remote section of the county. They went the way the money pointed and discovered a 300-gallon still. Officers said they did not know why the money was placed there.

Russian Farm Output Gains but Falls Short of Khrushchev's Goals

MOSCOW (UPI)—A decree of the Central Committee of the Communist Party published Thursday night disclosed that the production plan for major agricultural areas was underfulfilled in 1960 although the volume of output was higher than in 1959.

The decree was adopted Wednesday after a nine-day meeting of the Central Committee in which Premier Nikita Khrushchev sharply criticized inefficiency, mismanagement and embezzlement in agriculture.

Among the sweeping reforms introduced by the Communist Party were:

1. Increased capital investment in agriculture, which would provide more machinery, fertilizer, consumer goods for the farms and improve the living standards of the peasantry.

2. The reorganization of the ministries of agriculture into technical and scientific organs with decentralization of actual management of farm production.

3. A reduction of prices of agricultural machinery, spare parts, gasoline and an increase of government credit for farmers.

4. Millions of new acres of virgin lands are to be placed under cultivation as the result of grandiose irrigation and drainage projects.

James J. Autrey, vice president of Beck & Gregg Hardware Co., died in a Chicago hotel Thursday. His death was attributed to a heart attack.

Mr. Autrey lived at 1828 Greystone Road, NW. He was a member of Druid Hills Baptist Church and attended the Four-Square Class there. He was a Mason, a Shriner and a member of the Buckhead Elks Club.

Surviving are his wife, the former Miss Vera Chambles; six sisters, Mrs. M. I. Frost, Rome; Miss Betty Autrey, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mrs. Clinton Kennedy, Savannah; Mrs. W. B. Hart, Lyons; Mrs. J. C. Williams, Bristol, Va., and Mrs. Wendell Burke, Statesboro, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday at Spring Hill. The Rev. Dr. Louie D. Newton will officiate. Entombment will be in Westview Abbey.

BANDS PLAY DIXIE

Gay Milledgeville Opens Centennial

By BARBARA MILZ
Constitution Staff Writer

MILLEDGEVILLE—Bands played Dixie and sirens roared as Milledgeville opened its three-day Secession Centennial Thursday.

Heavy rains which began at noon stopped long enough at 4 p.m. to allow the parade, complete with bands, floats with pretty girls, and marching units to wind through the streets of this former Georgia capital.

A crowd estimated to be the largest attending a parade in Milledgeville's history lined the streets for the event.

This was in contrast to the events of Jan. 19, 1861, when the Georgia General Assembly met here in closed session to vote 166-130 for secession from the Union.

Thursday's Union Recorder, the Milledgeville newspaper, carried a banner headline: "Georgia Seceeded." Shop windows throughout the city featured displays of clothing, household furnishings and weapons from 1861 as well as displays of Confederate money.

The streets are decorated with flags, both of the modern United States and the Confederate States.

The Milledgeville Centennial is the first large scale program in Georgia in the four-year Civil War Centennial commemoration.

Following the parade Lt. Gov. Garland Byrd was guest of honor at a banquet for centennial dignitaries at the Milledgeville Country Club.

The pageant, "Their Massive Pride," was presented in Russell Auditorium of the Georgia State College for Women.

This pageant depicted events of the Secession Convention which was called to order on Jan. 16, 1861.

On Friday and Saturday tours of representative homes will open to the public at 3 p.m., followed by a tea at 5 in the Milledgeville Mansion, formerly the governor's mansion and now the home of the president of GSCW.

The pageant will be presented at 8 p.m. on each of the two nights.

On Friday at 9:30 p.m. a public square dance is scheduled at the National Guard armory.

The closing events of the three-day program will be the old-fashioned ball starting at 8 p.m. on Saturday in the Milledgeville State Hospital auditorium. Tommy Dorsey's band will play.

2 Students, 3 More in Klan Indicted at Athens

By JACK NELSON
Constitution Staff Writer

ATHENS—Three more persons whom police identified as Ku Klux Klansmen and two 19-year-old University of Georgia students were indicted on riot charges Thursday by a Clarke County Grand Jury investigating last week's violent segregation demonstration at the University.

The grand jury, nine members of which are connected with the university, has indicted a total of 11 persons on riot charges. The jury is expected to climax its investigation with presentments on Friday.

Indicted Thursday were William T. Brooks, John D. Miller and William F. Griffith, all admitted Klansmen of the Atlanta area; Ernest Parks Davis, sophomore of 227 North Avenue, Gainesville, and John Conners Cochran, freshman from Butler in Taylor County.

The riot trials of six other Atlanta men, five of whom were admitted Klansmen, was postponed in Clarke Superior Court Thursday until April 17 after the court was informed their attorney, Jimmy Venable of Atlanta, was engaged in a federal court case in Atlanta.

The indictments returned Friday charged the three Klansmen and the students with "assembling . . . to disturb the peace" and engaging in unlawful acts of violence by "loudly cursing and using boisterous, threatening language, throwing rocks" through windows of Center Myers Hall, a girls' dormitory, and through windows of Athens police cars and city fire trucks and privately owned cars.

The indictment also charges the defendants with dangerously shooting fireworks and physically assaulting police officers, including officers Ed Hansford and David Bellew, and striking officer James Hansford with a rock.

In addition, the two students, but not the Klansmen, are charged with carrying a banner with inflammatory words and "exhorting other persons in the gathering to make an assault on the girls' dormitory."

Meanwhile, the two Negro students who cracked the segregation barrier at the university last week, attended classes Thursday without incident for the fourth consecutive day.

And in another development the Athens Ministerial Association adopted a resolution expressing "deep shock" at reports the Legislature might censure the university administration and urge the firing of professors who signed a petition saying the federal court's integration order should be obeyed.

The association said legislative action could weaken discipline at the university, encouraging defiance and even violence, could endanger the university's accreditation and could further threaten the name of the institution.

A list of 405 professors (70 per cent of the faculty) who signed the petition urging compliance with the federal court order was released to the press Thursday night by Dr. Kenneth Coleman, assistant professor in the history department, who acted as secretary of the meeting held by the professors last Thursday.

The ministers' resolution also reaffirmed the association's "complete confidence" in President O. C. Aderhold, Dean of Students Joe Williams, Dean of Men William Tate and the university administration.

The resolution also commended Gov. Vandiver "for his forthright declaration that public education must be maintained. . . ."

To Address U.N. Unit

Glenn E. Bennett, executive director of the Atlanta Region Metropolitan Planning Commission, will speak at a meeting of the local chapter of the United Nations Council at 11 a.m., Jan. 27 at the Atlanta Red Cross Building.

Mother's Stab Slayer Gets Death

Defendant Peppers Calm at Verdict

By JACK STRONG

A 21-year-old man was convicted and sentenced to death in Fulton Superior Court Thursday on charges that he fatally stabbed a young Atlanta mother of two children last October.

Judge E. E. Andrews sentenced the defendant, Herman Edward Peppers, to be electrocuted March 3 at the Georgia State Prison in Reidsville.

Peppers appeared calm at the sentencing but three of his sisters, sitting with Peppers' mother and a brother, were ordered out of the courtroom when they began to cry.

CALLED 3 WITNESSES

A jury of 11 men and one woman reached the verdict at 2:45 p.m., about four and a half hours after testimony began Thursday.

Asst. Sol. Gen. Frank French called only three witnesses, all Atlanta policemen, and then rested his case. State-appointed defense attorney William T. Brooks immediately rested his case. Peppers did not take the stand to make an unsworn statement.

D. C. Nasworthy testified that he was the investigating patrolman who found Peppers kneeling beside Mrs. Geraldine Elliott, when he answered a call to 963 Washington St., SW, on last Oct. 19.

PRODUCED KNIFE

Nasworthy said Peppers told told him he had stabbed the young woman and produced a knife when Nasworthy asked for it. Nasworthy said he directed his attention to the victim, who still appeared to be alive, and Peppers escaped.

Patrolman J D. Bryant testified that he apprehended Peppers near the scene of the stabbing on the next day.

Detective J. C. Smith testified that Peppers made a statement in which he said that he (Peppers) stabbed Mrs. Elliott two or three times. He said that Peppers said he had escaped from prison after receiving a letter from Mrs. Elliott. Smith said Peppers told him he was not sorry he had killed her, that he was only sorry he had been caught.

PLEADS FOR MERCY

Brooks, in his argument to the jury, pleaded for a recommendation of mercy (which would carry a mandatory life-imprisonment sentence). He told the jury that Peppers had committed the stabbing "in a blind rage."

"Punishment by death never solved anything," Brooks argued. "It's never an example as the law books would have you believe. I beg of you both as an attorney for the defense and as a human being. . . to put him away for the rest of his natural life and recommend mercy."

Salk Vaccine Backers to Meet Here

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special committee will meet in Atlanta Monday and Tuesday to consider ways and means of promoting wider use of Salk antipolio vaccine.

Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney of the Public Health Service said Thursday the committee also will make recommendations on the technical and administrative problems created by the existence of an orally administered live virus antipolio vaccine.

Burney appointed the surgeon general's committee on poliomyelitis control last fall. Four subcommittees which have been studying various aspects of the polio control program will report at this first meeting of the full committee.

The latest health service estimates are that 40 per cent of the United States population has not been vaccinated against polio.

Taking note of informal reports from prospective manufacturers of the oral vaccine that it will not be available for general use in this country this year, Burney said such vaccine eventually will be licensed. He added that to plan for its use well ahead of time will help insure most effective use.

Among the committee members expected to be in Atlanta are Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the Salk vaccine, and Dr. Albert Sabin, whose orally administered vaccine has received the general approval of the service for use in the United States.

Said Hason, Pakistan's ambassador to the United Nations will speak Monday at a foreign policy workshop of the League of Women Voters at 1:15 p.m. at the Atlanta Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Petition-Signing Profs? They're Citizens, Too!

When the Georgia solons labored mightily this week and brought forth the mouse of approval for the nonpetitioning professors at the University of Georgia, it struck the depth of nonreality.

Will that august body now pass similar resolutions praising the counties in Georgia that have not sent petitions to them in the cause of open-schools-with segregation?

Will these gentlemen thank the citizens who have not sent them letters, telegrams, who have not telephoned or collared them in the vestry of their churches or in the corner drugstores to express their heated conviction that our way of life must be preserved at all costs?

One would think the lawmakers would beg for advice, for suggestions, even for prayers, as indeed Gov. Vandiver himself has done. Or is it that they wish advice, but only that advice that is pleasant to their ear, only the voices raised in harmony with their own oft-stated positions?

The possessiveness with which our leaders claim this terrible dilemma amounts to obsession. It is as if the issue concerned only them and their political future, and did not touch the lives of people at all.

The arrogance with which they censure, by indirection, the freedom of thought and conscience of the hundreds of faculty members who signed the petition at Athens has done great harm to the course of education in Georgia no matter which turn the segregation question takes.

Teachers are citizens. They have every right to express themselves. They do not abrogate their right when they sign on as professors in a public institution. Moreover, in this case, they have special knowledge. They specialize in education. This question is tied up with more than the immediate one of whether school keeps or not. It is part of many of the very disciplines colleges are charged to impart to their students; one with ethics, history, religion; with economics, sociology, political science.

Academic freedom is so basic a principle that every teacher in Georgia will now lift her or his head in indignation at this storm-trooper thought-control by the legislature. It is true that many have not yet spoken. They are still shackled by the old shibboleths of humility and acquiesence. But in every major college in this area, petitions have circulated briskly and been signed with boldness. No scorn yet practiced upon teachers by the General Assembly has sown the seeds of rebellion of this act.

We are short of fine teachers. We need them more than they need us. We must have their intelligent independence, their spirit of inquiry, their inspiration for freedom, their vision of the past and the future.

Dr. Rufus Harris, president of Mercer University, might have been addressing this occasion when he prepared his commencement address at that university last June.

"If education is to succeed in the role of fortifying the bond of our civil society, it cannot do so by exalting the vague ideal of the uncommitted mind, conscience and man. Overtly and tacitly it must not be afraid to confront people with the central questions that entwine their lives with modern meaning. This requires courage, for a university is a place where ideas must be permitted to clash. When this is not so, it is not alive. If it is not alive to ideas and if it does not permit discussion of them, it is not a university. Truth, which we all seek, is best discovered by this clash and debate of ideas and differences—fully and tolerantly."

"The integrity of character we strive for within ourselves is dependent upon the measure of our own inner quality; the integrity of the structure of education we shall build inevitably will be the result of the same ingredient. An educational institution is no finer, no deeper, no more humane, no more qualitative, than those who are its architects, or those who are taught according to its ways. To the last analysis, the quality of education is the quality of each of us. It is the quality of you and me."

Stay with us, ladies and gentlemen of the classrooms. This too shall pass.

Add Note Of Glamour

You can add a fresh new note of glamour to your appearance, and also reap the full benefits of your beauty requisites, if you will consider make-up colors as part of your fashion accessories.

The multitude of brilliant new eye make-up shades now available, and the exciting array of lipsticks that vary from tones of orange to pink to red, provide all the necessary colors to work with to stunningly complement your costume and fashion accessories.

For instance, when you wear ropes of beads or a necklace with a beige, brown, black, white or neutral - toned dress, harmonize your eye shadow to the predominant color of this jewelry.

Or, with accessories that are orange, red, or pink, choose a lipstick in your color range that will match or complement these color tones.

By varying these make-up accent colors and using them as fashion accessories, you can create an intriguing, high-fashion look of beauty.

Madam's Top Knot Is Considered As Fashion Creates Sensible Hats

By RAYMONDE ALEXANDER
Constitution Fashion Editor

With the bursting of the hair bubble, hats are beginning to look like the beautiful decorations they were intended to be and it may be safe to assume they will once again regain top spot in fashion.

At least, the millinery creators have kept in mind the fact that hats should make you look better with them than without them for a change and therefore, it shouldn't be too hard to wear them. Judging from the millinery showings on a recent trip to New York, there is a style for everyone—the ridiculously tall crowns of fall have been bulldozed down to a more pleasing level, the great breadth of brims has been whittled to widths that can go through doors without turning sideways. The whole hat picture apparently is aimed at making some sense instead of nonsense.

The Millinery Creators of America and the high fashion millinery designers, known as the Millinery Fashion Exhibitors, showing under the auspices of the Millinery Institute of America depicted the hat as a piece of magic for spring, 1961.

The magic was shown in the new hats that co-ordinate the costume look, that provide conversation pieces, and make the difference between being dressed and dressed-up.

LITTLE HATS

Light, little hats perched well forward over the brow, large curving brims flipped up in front, brims slanted longer on one side, and sailors had brims rolled up all around, large oversize brims, or straight stiff brims. The answer to it all is that your hat may be miniature or large in silhouette.

Among this group of designers, the most often used color was azalea pink—warm, vibrant, and a shade that harmonizes with spring's pinks from palest pastel to clear reds. Sunshine yellow was shown as the life-bringing contrast for spring's black and white or multi-color combinations. With fashion's greens and yellows, it was watercolor blue for the hats. Tender green seemed the natural shade for sky and water blues or mixed greens. For pale beiges and greys, and vivid shades, there was bright black and white. The perfect go-with-everything color was shown as mellow beige.

DOWN IN FRONT

Because Lilly Dache believes that spring will see women wearing their hair up in the back and off the ears, she has designed hats to go down in front or very deep down in the back. While her hats were far from being all small, she strove for a small head look. Miss Dache emphasized that shorter, wavier hair styles will encourage the use of hair ornaments such as little hair ribbons worn at the sides or in circlets around the head.

The Dior approach to spring millinery came in on a wave of sailors in many different sizes for different occasions, tailored ones and dressy ones. There was little in the way of trimming, an occasional bow, a lone flower or one kind of straw on another straw. The cloche group was the exception as it was adorned with flowers and drapes and shaped into curves, dips, dents.

CLEVER IDEA

Cleverest idea in the Emme collection was a group of two-in-one hats that could be ideal for the pretty and practical approach to spring hats. Shapely baku straw hats topped little close-fitting printed silk caps and one was an entity without the other or they could be worn at the same time. Just think of these when you're ready to enter the convertible for your ride home after the luncheon.

Still another shocker from Emme was the group of hats woven of gold straw in bumper, turban, pillbox, cloche or large brim silhouettes.

Area Women See Vandiver's Speech As a 'Hopeful Sign'

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Most of a representative group of Atlanta-area teachers, mothers and citizens viewed Gov. Vandiver's Wednesday address to Georgians as offering hope for public education.

A trio of teachers, representing three institutions in this area, were of one opinion: "The governor is obviously trying to do the right thing."

Adding that she hoped "the legislators will heed his plea," one teacher said "I wish the governor had been more definite as to just what he's planning to do about the schools."

Mrs. J. P. Gunter, mother of a youngster who will start to school next year, was not as cautious in her criticism. "He took about 30 minutes to really say nothing. The crux of the speech can be summed up in a few words: We're going to keep the schools open, but the Negroes out. I doubt if anyone knows how this is going to be accomplished in the face of federal court orders to the contrary."

Mrs. Robert Jackson, mother of two girls, one of whom is a college freshman, said she has gained "more respect for the governor in the past two weeks than at any time since he's been in office."

LEADERSHIP

"I think he has finally accepted his leadership responsibilities," Mrs. Jackson continued. "But certainly he's not forgotten that the voice of the people should be heard before the final decision. As a matter of fact, I'm more concerned about the General Assembly's resolution to reinstate those suspended students at Georgia than I am about Gov. Vandiver's speech. I think they should be allowed to go back to school. I'm sure they've suffered enough for losing their heads for a minute or two. They shouldn't be denied their right to education, either."

"Those flowery phrases sounded mighty good," observed Mrs. A. W. Mitchell. "We had several people in our neighborhood at our house to listen to the speech together—that's something we started doing during the Great Debates—and eight of us mothers all agree: It sounds like a good plan. We just wish it could work."

One local club leader said "the speech struck me as just more of the same old stuff—nothing definite."

DISAPPOINTED

"I'm afraid I was a little disappointed," she continued. "Regardless of how fine the talk sounded, when you really get down to it, we're still just sticking our heads in the sand like ostriches and refusing to recognize the inevitable."

An equally prominent Georgia clubwoman said she believes "as far as the state is concerned, our problems today are even more taxing on the governor than what we had to face during the war years. I think Vandiver is facing up to things as much as he can. He has to remember what he promised the people who elected him to office. I think those promises are a hindrance to him now, but at least he's trying to be honest about it."

Mrs. Dale Smith, mother of a second-grader, said she's "always been an admirer of Gov. Vandiver and he really did himself proud in the speech Wednesday night."

'Swansdown' Hits Fashion For Spring

PARIS (WNS) — The newest "fur" furor for next spring and summer doesn't come from animals, but from geese. "Swansdown" is its name.

Already adopted by Princess Grace of Monaco, Princess Diane of France and now Fabiola of Belgium, the goose which has been called "swan" for 400 years is now called fur. As fur, it has augmented its uses, its esteem and its price.

When goosedown was swansdown, it was useful only for powder puffs and bed quilts. Now that it is established as the lightest of furs, it makes stoles, collars for knit suits, trims for cocktail dresses and show windows, linings for ladies' dressing gowns and for airmen's hats.

Legend says it all started 400 years ago when a Dutch seaman retired and came to France with a flock of Holland swans. In his new idleness he had time to invent the "houppe," or swansdown powder puff, and he sold them to ladies of the court.

When popularity exhausted his supply of swansdown, he fell back on a combination of Dutch ingenuity and French fowl to produce swansdown "houppes" made of goose down.

ASK AMY

He Loves a Girl With Problems; Her Parents Say She's Retarded

DEAR AMY LARKIN: The girl I love is two years my senior and has been married before and her parents try to say she is mentally retarded.

Miss Larkin, she has just as good a mind as you or I. She is very nervous, but I believe that is because of her family getting onto her all the time.

Her divorce has been in the courts over two years. I believe her parents are scared she will remarry and move out and take her 2-year-old child. Her mother has said if she ever did remarry she couldn't have her child.

I have found out now that they want to put her in a mental institution; then they'll have the child and she can't do anything about it.

I would do anything for this girl. Her father had me arrested because she tried to run away and came to me for help. He dropped charges on grounds that I promise not to see or contact her till her divorce comes through. Miss Larkin, what should I do?—IN LOVE

You won't help her nervous condition by keeping things stirred up between her and her parents.

Ask her doctor exactly what her condition is. Does he think she is capable of caring for her child? Is she, in his opinion, capable of being a good wife and running a home? Are her parents really for or against her?

Try to abide by his advice.

DEAR AMY LARKIN: What do you do when a group of 13 and 14-year-old snobs takes over a Girl Scout troupe?

At meetings these girls sit around whispering to each other, planning parties. They call them Girl Scout parties, but the other girls are left out and all they know is what they pick up from the whispering. The snob group alwas block-votes and so those girls are the officers year after year. Yet some of them never get out to sell a cookie. They don't speak to these others at meetings unless they have to and don't speak at all at school or ball games.

It is really having a bad effect on the left-out girls. Many have quit, including my daughter, and others say they're going to. I've always thought Scouting was a character builder, not a destroyer of spirit. The leader of the troupe is the mother of one of the snobs, so it really is a bad situation.

Have you ever heard the like?—STOP THE SNOBS

Mothers of the left-out girls should get together and help them plan parties of their own. If there are as many as eight in your daughter's faction they can start a new troupe. (To get help in setting it up, talk with your Girl Scout neighborhood chairman, or call the local G. S. Council or even the Greater Atlanta Council if you wish.)

The best way to stop the snobs is to leave them alone.

Gals' Sleeves Have Tricks in 'em ---But Just to Keep a Hand In!

Several hundred women will have a lot of tricks up their sleeves on Saturday, Jan. 21, when the annual bridge party is given by members of the Fifth District Pharmaceutical Association at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel.

The prime reason is that funds from the event will go toward the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Free Cancer Home, while a secondary reason is that the grand prize will be a trip for two by air to Paris and London. There also will be a fashion show with auxiliary members acting as models.

Each table will be given a high and a low prize as well as a chance for the several hundred door prizes. These gifts as well as the favor bags for each guest have been donated by pharmaceutical wholesalers, manufacturers and individual drug stores.

Card playing will begin at 1 p.m. and places are being set up for 800 bridge or canasta players. Tickets may be obtained from the chairman, Mrs. Stacy Jones Jr., or Mrs. J. A. Raudonis, president, or any member of the auxiliary.

Each year the pharmaceutical group sponsors a party to aid the cancer home, the funds being used by the Sisters where most needed. Last year the party netted over $4000 which was used to remodel two rooms and two baths for the men's division.

Advice? Splendid!

(Splendid advice for all occasions; Christmas advice gift-wrapped at small extra charge, lovelorn advice in plain wrapper. George c/o The Atlanta Constitution.)

DEAR GEORGE:

After I go with a girl a while I get tired of her and she's hard to get rid of. This happens over and over. What can I do?

TIRED AGAIN

DEAR TIRED AGAIN:

Don't worry. Your "Miss Right" will come along; your ideal. You'll find you don't get tired of her—she'll get sick and tired of you.

DEAR GEORGE:

Where can I find a woman to love me as much as I do?

CONCEITED

DEAR CONCEITED:

Why bother? A mirror is far less upkeep.

DEAR GEORGE:

I have tried and tried to get up my courage enough to fly. But I just can't bring myself to fly. What can I do?

AFRAID TO FLY

DEAR AFRAID:

This is quite a serious problem. Particularly if you happen to be a mallard duck. However, if you mean fly in an airplane, simply study stafistics which prove how much more dangerous automobiles are than airplanes. This cured me. Although I will admit I look funny going down Highway 66 on my roller skates.

DEAR GEORGE:

All the women advice columnists say they wouldn't kiss a boy on their first date with him. Is this true, in your opinion?

DEAR FRAN:

I don't know. I never dated an advice columnist.

Reduce Home Fire Hazards With This Borax Solution

Fire hazards in the home may be reduced by treating cotton clothing and household items with an easy-to-prepare solution.

The National Cotton Council reports a new leaflet from the U.S. Department of Agriculture gives directions for preparing and applying a flame-proofing solution.

The solution is composed of seven ounces of borax, three ounces of boric acid, and two quarts of hot water. Dissolve the boric acid by making a paste with a small quantity of water. Stir until the solution is clear.

Apply the solution to dry cotton fabrics as follows: Dip curtains, draperies and similar articles, wring and dry. Spray the solution on carpets and upholstery padding with a garden or paint sprayer. Sprinkle on clothing and other items that may need ironing.

Allow sprinkled fabrics to nearly dry, and do not redampen with water. Use a moderately hot iron.

Scene Around Atlanta

'Sustainers' Are Hosts

Clothes horses, male and female, real and artificial, will parade from 7 until 9 o'clock tonight at the Piedmont Driving Club when the Sustainers, the over-40-year-old members of the Junior League, give a party to collect clothes for charity. Clothes lines will be hung and table decorations will feature yesteryears.

Referring to the name of the group, the invitations noted that there would be enough food to "sustain" them. This has led to much speculation, since food, decorations and entertainment are all on a do-it-yourself basis on the part of the members. The entertainment will include dances of the 20s, 30s and 40s.

Mrs. J. H. Finch, who dances with the Atlanta Concert Group, has been borrowed from the junior membership for a specialty number she calls a reverse strip tease.

There will be a Conga line which will include Mr. and Mrs. Frank Owens, Mr. and Mrs. Bolling Jones, Mr. and Mrs. William Healey, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Healey, Mr. and Mrs. Colquitt Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Joel Hurt, among others.

The Big Apple will be led by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pegram. Charleston dancers, complete with dresses of the twenties, will be led by Mrs. Doug Connah who will be wearing a 36-year-old dress worn to a Woodbury Forrest prom in 1926. It is black chiffon with rhinestones and Mrs. Connah reports that it fits better now than it did when she first bought it.

MEMBERS AND GUESTS will gather at the Druid Hills Golf Club tomorrow for the regular candlelight dinner dance. Cocktails will be served before and Wes Baxter's Orchestra will provide music for dancing after dinner.

INVITATIONS have been issued to relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Fennell Sr. to a 50th wedding anniversary celebration Sunday at their home on Hammond Woods Circle.

LEE PLUNKETT, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Plunkett of Downs Drive, will entertain nine young friends at an early Valentine dinner at the Lakeside Country Club tonight. The girls will be presented with Valentine corsages and the children will dance to juke-box music.

MEMBERS AND GUESTS of the Lakeside Club will gather tonight for their regular informal dinner dance. Music will be provided by the Bob Jones Trio.

MR. AND MRS. CARLING DINKLER traveled to Washington on the special inaugural train Tuesday to take part in the inauguration festivities.

STUDENT OFFICERS and wives of the Georgia Tech ROTC will gather tomorrow at the Lakeside Country Club for their annual midwinter cocktail party and dinner dance.

Don't Discard Blankets Quilt a New Comforter

Isn't it heartbreaking to throw away blankets that are only partially worn and faded? I don't mean the ones with frayed binding that can be easily replaced, but the blankets that look seedy all over.

One way of utilizing an old blanket is to cover it with a pretty chintz or some other cotton fabric, then quilt it into a new comforter. If you have two or three blankets, worn badly in spots, cut out the best part of each until you have the size you wish covered, and then sew the pieces together.

Now cut the outer covering, by cutting as many lengths as necessary (two will probably do for each side) and sew them together. After measuring your blanket, check to see that the outer cover is cut to fit it perfectly. Then, sew the front and back cover together on three sides, leaving one side open to insert the blanket.

Ask someone to help you insert the blanket in the cover. The bulk will make it difficult for you to do smoothly without assistance. After inserting the blanket, pin the blanket to the cover along the edges, making sure the blanket edge reaches the inner edge of the cover. Then turn in the edges of the open side and slip-stitch closed with small stitches. Baste the blanket and cover together on all edges. Now, baste with long stitches across the lengthwise and crosswise grains with basting rows about 3 inches apart. Be sure not to skip the basting step, because it keeps the cover from slipping while you're machine stitching.

Remove the regular presser foot from your machine and attach the quilter. This attachment consists of a short, open foot and an adjustable or removable space guide that can be used to the right or left of the needle. Adjust space guide for width you desire between stitching lines.

All stitching is done on the wrong side of cover. Use a medium-length stitch. To stitch diagonal blocks, mark a diagonal chalk line for the first row of stitching across the center of the cover from corner to corner (this is on the bias).

Stitch and space each successive row from center to outer edges, guiding the edge of the space guide to the previous row of stitching.

Place space guide to the right or left of needle so you can handle the bulk in the most convenient way. Since the coverlet is large and bulky, guide fabric with both hands placed on the fabric so the lengthwise grain forms a straight line between hands. Place a card table against the back of the machine so excess quilt can be spread out as you sew. Allowing it to drag off the machine will pull and throw your stitching off.

Continue stitching the rows until cover is completely quilted.

A booklet containing 15 ideas for gifts you can make is now available. These gift ideas have been selected from Patricia Scott's most popular columns. To receive a copy of FIFTEEN GIFTS YOU CAN MAKE, write Miss Scott in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents to cover printing and handling costs.

Retarded Child Due Best Care

By JOSEPH C. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our problem is the hardest my husband and I have ever had to deal with, and the strain sometimes seems more than I can stand.

We have a 3-year-old who is mentally retarded. We have been told his mental capacity will never grow beyond that of a child.

He has been through the child development clinic at the medical school a number of times. The doctors advised us to think about putting him in a school for such children. It is not too far away and is highly recommended.

After numerous sleepless nights and many prayers we finally decided to send in an application.

When word got around the neighborhood about our decision we were criticized and had some hard remarks said about us for placing him in the school.

Don't you think if people would stop and try to imagine the heart-breaking agony a mother goes through, of the tears she sheds watching him unable to live a normal life like the rest of the family, when you want so desperately to do something and there is really so little you can do, but you love him so terribly much—don't you think they would have a word of encouragement instead of harsh ones?

What is your opinion, or the opinion of other mothers in a similar situation?

They will be sending for him soon. If you can help me, please do so soon so maybe I can let him go with a new hope to help me over the rough days ahead.—Mrs. J. C. E.

I don't see how anyone could read your lette. and think a harsh thought.

However, it is uman nature to criticize any action that doesn't fit with what we consider "natural."

It is natural for parents to love their children and want to keep them. Your neighbors, I fear, have completely overlooked that fact that makes you. case different—your little boy's mental retardation. They have never been confronted with the facts that you have had to weigh.

Where lies the most happiness for a retarded child? Why, in an environment in which he can live and be active at his own rate and not forever overshadowed by people who can do what he cannot.

What of such a child as he grows, not up, but older? Who will care for him when his parents are gone? Must his brothers and sisters sacrifice their lives to care for him? Is that fair?

When people begin to consider these questions, their criticism melts away. And might I add this fact, which has been a great blessing to many mothers like you, when they realized it: You do not abandon a child when you send him away to school — either to your little boy's special school, or a boarding school, or any school. You can visit him there; he can, generally, have visits at home. You keep on loving him always, and he keeps on loving you, and while there is always a sadness that he is not normal, the warmth of love remains, and neither heart breaks, yours or his.

WHY

is it good business to buy your used car from my used car super market? First, I am a volume dealer. I sell more used cars retail than anyone in Atlanta. Second, courteous salesmen who have left the school of "fast talk", "pressure" and "gimmick". Be seein' ya,

Russ Bramblet

For the past 6 years and until his retirement this lot was occupied by Mr. Austin Abbott, a popular name in the automobile business and a dealer in Atlanta since 1928.

I will be on this lot in person through this week and Mr. Abbott has agreed to be here with me and invite his customers and friends to visit him here.

OUR SALESMEN:

JIM NORMAN
BILL MOORE
MR. ABBOTT
AND MYSELF

All of these automobiles were traded in on late model Cadillacs and have been through our shop and ready to go. I am staying here for one purpose, to assist my salesmen in selling all of these cars. Not a one has been priced, because we do not know what they will bring, we do know, they will be sold at some price. If we do not sell 30 of these cars to the public this week, we will let dealers have them Monday morning. A finance man will be here on lot from 9 a.m. till 9 p.m.

Low prices, low down payments, financing to suit you. Clean automobiles, at wholesale prices. We're ready and looking for you.

LAST YEAR (1960) WAS THE BIGGEST VOLUME YEAR IN CENTRAL'S 10-YR. HISTORY!

OVER 6,425 SATISFIED CUSTOMERS SHOPPED ALL OVER AND FOUND THEY COULD TRADE AT CENTRAL FOR LESS!

All we ask is that you check our price before you buy and you'll see why Central sells more!

'61 CHEVS AT LOW, LOW PRICES! ACT NOW!—AND SAVE!

HUGE SELECTION READY FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY—ALL PRICED TO SELL NOW!

WOW! What a record! Last year more people bought Chevrolets than purchased any make in any year in automobile history! The reason is that more and more folks are finding out it costs less to buy Chevy, less to own Chevy and that Chevrolets resale value is second to none! This should be proof enough that Chevrolet as America's No. 1 car is your best buy. Also we believe that as Georgia's No. 1 dealer Central is your best deal. . . . We fully intend to give you more than a dollar's worth of value for every dollar you spend. We appreciate your business.

The Gifted and The Less Gifted

A gifted child in school is in many instances held back because of less gifted children in the class. The reverse is also in effect: less gifted children are required to do harder work they can't cope with. The State Board of Education is undertaking to correct the situation. It is launching pilot programs to try imaginative new ideas in handling the situation. The Journal's Raleigh Bryans reports on details and goals of the programs.

Civic Groups Rally To Aid In 'Fight Blight' Campaign

Officials of a score of civic and service organizations and commercial enterprises have joined in Atlanta's first "Fight Blight" campaign, Willis L. Buckner, coordinator of the city's urban renewal department, said Tuesday.

Buckner said the drive is tentatively set for April 1.

"This is an all-out assault on dilapidation, disrepair, obsolescence, untidiness and eye sores," Buckner said. "A suitable nucleus already has been built to insure an activity broad enough in scope and effectiveness to insure signal success. While no one would claim the campaign is the full answer to blight, it can go a long way towards erasing many eye sores and preventing new ones."

Included in the campaign are: (1) Inspection of their homes by fifth and sixth graders in Atlanta schools; (2) a poster contest among art students of high schools; (3) a slogan contest in which the public will be invited to participate, and (4) efforts by the Atlanta Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Dealers' Association as a part of the paint-up, fix-up effort.

* Based on a comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices including radio, heater, automatic transmission and white sidewall tires

HERE'S HOW THE '61 FORD TAKES CARE OF ITSELF

Lubricates Itself—You'll normally go 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications (which cost only about $4.00 and take about 20 minutes) because Ford has replaced conventional grease fittings with a sealed-in lubrication system.

Cleans Its Own Oil—You'll go 4,000 miles between oil changes because Ford's Full-Flow oil filter gives you filtration through fibers . . . trapping more dirt than any other type of filter made.

Adjusts Its Own Brakes—New Truck Size brakes adjust themselves—automatically.

Guards Its Own Muffler—Ford mufflers are double-wrapped and aluminized—to last 3 times as long as ordinary mufflers.

Protects Its Own Body—All vital underbody parts are specially processed to resist rust and corrosion, even to galvanizing the body panels beneath the doors.

Takes Care Of Its Own Finish—New Diamond Lustre Finish never needs waxing.

An Unplanned Testimonial

ATHENS—Daniel Hamilton Magill, the Flo Ziegfield of the football world, produced the University of Georgia's first world's championship celebration Thursday night. Presence of four Georgia greats in the Philadelphia Eagles' title cast prompted the affair.

MC Wallace Butts explained that this was perhaps the most unusual football party any college ever staged. He noted that many of his fellow coaching associates and numerous educators undoubtedly would frown on a university officially applauding a National Football League crown.

Outlar

However, there was really nothing unusual about the affair, for it developed into a warming and unplanned testimonial dinner to Wallace Butts.

Many of the stars who shined so brightly during Butts' 22-year regime on Ag Hill returned to pay tribute to the man who molded them into stickout players.

Some 200 members of Georgia Bulldog Clubs cheered as more than 20 speakers paraded to the podium during the lengthy, touching and enjoyable evening.

There were five members of the Eagles present. Bobby Walston, who now ranks third in the all-time NFL scoring standings, Marion Campbell, Riley Gunnells and Theron Sapp contributed heavily to the championship cause in Philadelphia this season. Red Leathers, an all-time Georgia stickout, played on the very first Eagle entry in 1933. And as Red pointed out, the current crew drew more ($5,000-plus) from the play-off game than he earned in two seasons. Pro football obviously has made giant strides through the years, and Georgia men who played under Butts have been promient in the progress.

—Walston Pays Butts Glowing Tribute

In addition to the colony of Eagles, Charley Trippi, assistant Georgia coach and longtime Cardinal ace; Roy Wilkins, of the Washington Redskins; Johnny Carson, formerly with the Redskins, and currently with the Houston AFL champions; and Bill Hartman were veteran pros in attendance.

Three members of Georgia's 1959 SEC champs who stuck with the pros in their first fling, were on hand. Charlie Britt was voted LA Rams' Rookie of the Year, Gorden Kelley was a standout with San Francisco, and Bobby Towns earned first-year plaudits with the St. Louis Cards. Future pros Francis Tarkenton, Pat Dye, Fred Brown and Bobby Walden joined in the starring cast at the head table.

Walston who keynoted the banquet, summed up the sentiments of all the Georgia players. "During my 10 years with the Eagles, I have played for five coaches," he said. "I learned more football in four years under Coach Butts than I did from all the other coaches. I say this in all sincerity: Everything I've achieved as a football player, I owe it to Coach Butts.

"When I came to Georgia, I knew if I could play four years for him I would be a good football player. Whether he's a coach, athletic director, or president, there never will be another one like him or as great."

—Britt Learned Drama the Hard Way

Though all of the players pitched solemn plaudits to the retiring Georgia boss, the party was embroidered with a great deal of humor. For example, Britt thanked Tarkenton for making him a defensive back. Tarkenton's offensive brilliance shelved Britt into defensive stardom.

In expressing his appreciation to Georgia for affording him the four happiest years of his life, Dye said that he had already told his mother to tell his wife to bury him as close to Sanford Stadium as possible. Britt drew a loud roar when he retorted that he wasn't that loyal. "There were several times when I thought I was already buried in Sanford Stadium," Britt said.

Britt is returning to the coast to launch a new career as an actor. He has a role in a forthcoming Ozzie and Harriet Show, and prospects are bright for future work at Warner Brothers.

Bitt explained that his Georgia football career was helpful in getting his foot in the TV door. When the talent scouts asked him if he had any previous drama experience, he told them that he had played football under Wallace Butts. Britt then brought down the house when he added that there were times he was positive Coach Butts had trained under Boris Karloff and Lon Chaney.

There was minimum debating between the champions of the NFL and AFL. Carson explained why. "After we won the AFL championship, the Houston players got up a petition proposing a challenge to the Eagles for the world pro crown. Thirty-three of the 35-man roster signed it. George Blanda and John Carson didn't, for we had played in the NFL."

Butts, obviously moved by a long and loud standing ovation, graciously accepted the multiple compliments dispensed by his former stars, who made it big in big-time. He then climaxed the affair when he said, "It's amazing all the wonderful things they tell me now that I'm through. I'd swear there were many occasions on Ag Hill when I heard them mumbling something else."

Theron Sapp (L), Riley Gunnels, Marion Campbell and Bobby Walston Surround Old Coach, Wallace Butts; Charley Britt, Now of Los Angeles and Movies, Shakes Hands With Francis Tarkenton

By AL THOMY
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS—Bobby Walston, who called Wally Butts superior to all five professional coaches he has played under, Thursday night told Georgia Bulldogs why the Philadelphia Eagles won the National Football League championship.

It was Pro Night, a production of Bulldog Clubs, and featured nine Georgia graduates who have made good in professional football, but, it turned out that his former students had come to praise Butts, retiring after 22 years as head coach.

Keynote speaker Walston explained why, in his opinion, the Eagles jumped from a second division team to the World's Championship. "It was desire," he said, "The team did not know when to quit and there never was a sign of panic, even when we were 17 and 23 points behind.

"We had to come from behind in eight of the 10 games we won. And here is an amazing fact: our opponents scored 54 points in the fourth quarter, but we scored 162, three times as many as they got.

"That was the secret of our success. I remember in one game against the Giants when we trailed by 17-0, I looked around the bench and there was no sign of excitement. The boys looked like they were sitting there and reading the Sunday paper."

Walston capped Pro Night when he turned to Butts and said:

"I speak for all of the pros here at the table when I say, not as an Eagle, not as a Redskin, not as a Ram, but as a Georgia player, that I am reaping the harvest of what I learned under Coach Butts.

"There is just one word I want to say and I want to say it with a handshake . . . thanks."

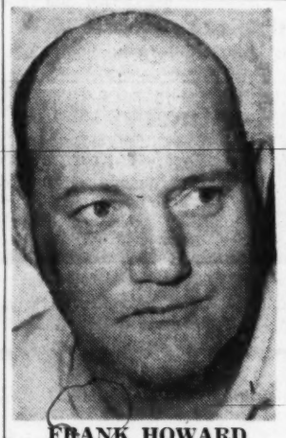
The same sentiments were expressed by all nine Bulldog alumni from the pros. In addition to Walston, they were Theron Sapp, Riley Gunnells and Marion Campbell of the Eagles, Charlie Britt of the Los Angeles Rams, Gorden Kelley of the San Francisco 49ers, Roy Wilkins of the Washington Redskins, Bobby Towns of the St. Louis Cards and Johnny Carson of the Houston Oilers.

Pros-to-be Francis Tarkenton, Pat Dye, Bobby Walden and Fred Brown also made short talks along with new Bulldog head man Johnny Griffith and ex-pros Milton (Red) Leathers, Jim Whatley, Bill Hartman and Charley Trippi.

Quarterback Tarkenton also had a compliment of the highest order for Butts.

"After playing the Blue-Gray and Hula Bowls, I am convinced that Coach Butts knows more about football than any other coach in the country," he said. "You don't realize how much he knows until you play under other coaches."

They talked of many things Thursday night, but the evening really belonged to Wally Butts and his handiwork. He received a ringing, standing ovation, and by banquet's end a few tears shone on his chubby cheeks.



FRANK HOWARD
"No Right to Kick"

Baskin Blasts Back, Calls Howard Scared

SC Aide Points To Bass' Fans

By JACK WILLIAMS

Coach Weems Baskin of the University of South Carolina defended Gamecock recruiting practices here Thursday and charged that "Frank Howard's frightened because Marvin Bass is so popular with the kids."

One of the early arrivals for the Atlanta Touchdown Club Jamboree starting Friday, Baskin said South Carolina would welcome investigation to prove its hands are clean.

Earlier in the day, Clemson's Howard implied he might trigger a probe of the Gamecocks. His comment came after three high school stars indicated they will now enter South Carolina after previously signing with Clemson.

Baskin made lightly of Howard's remarks, saying, "Frank has no right to kick. He's taken players in the past after they'd signed with Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Georgia and other schools.

"And I say all this despite the fact that Frank is one of my good friends. I don't know of anyone in the business I'd rather compete against."

It is interesting to note that Baskin came to Atlanta a day in advance of the Touchdown Club Jamboree on a recruiting mission.

"We got behind on our recruiting," he explained, "because Coach Bass didn't take over until the middle of December. But we hope we're lining up some pretty good boys."

Formerly a coach at Ole Miss under Harry Mehre, Baskin retired from active football coaching two years ago. He still serves as a recruiter and scout, however, in addition to coaching track and directing the intramural program.

Howard started the rhubarb earlier Friday when he stopped off in Atlanta en route to Gadsden, Ala. He'll return here Friday for the Touchdown Club kickoff.

"I wouldn't doubt if there wasn't going to be an investigation into every player who changed," Howard said.

One of the players interested in both schools was quoted as

Griffith Names Castronis To Coach Bulldog Freshmen

By AL THOMY
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS—Mike Castronis, an All-America tackle in 1945, Thursday was named freshman football coach at the University of Georgia.

A native of Jacksonville, Fla., Castronis played his football under Wally Butts from 1943 to 1945. He was an all-SEC guard in '43, all-SEC tackle in 1944-45 and All-America tackle (INS) in 1945.

For the past four years, Castronis has served as line coach at Athens High School and for the past 12 years he has been assistant director of the famous Athens Y Camp at Tallulah Falls.

He succeeds Johnny Griffith as freshman coach. Griffith, of course, moved up to take over for retiring Wally Butts.

Castronis actually came to Georgia in 1941 and played on the same freshman team with Bulldog offensive coach Charley Trippi. However, he was forced to skip football in 1942 because a softball accident resulted in loss of a kidney. His coaching career was launched at Hartwell, where he stayed five years and had an unbeaten season in 1948, being named Coach-of-the-Year in Class B that year. He was also Coach-of-the-Year in Class B at Hogansville in 1952 with a state championship team.

After two years at Hogansville, he spent two seasons at Winder before returning to Athens, where he has assisted Weyman Sellers.

"They would have to look a long time to find a man to equal Mike's character and ability," Sellers said Thursday. "He certainly has done a fine job for us. All the boys are crazy about him."

"We are fortunate to have on our staff a man of Mike Castronis' character and ability," said Griffith.

"We are fortunate to have on our staff a man of Mike Castronis' character and ability," said Griffith.

Castronis is married to the former Orlean York, a Georgia graduate and a native of Athens. They have three children, Mike Jr., 12, Mary 10, Helen 7.

Vandy Fortunes Take Dive; Johnson Flies in, Ruled Out

By PAUL ATKINSON

Vanderbilt's basketball fortunes have taken more unpredictable turns than a Sunday driver.

The climax came Thursday afternoon. Vanderbilt basketball coach Bob Polk believed he had regained his No. 1 scorer of last season, Bill Johnson. And he had indicated Johnson would play here Saturday against Georgia Tech in a big Southeastern Conference game for both schools.

But . . . alas, SEC commissioner Bernie Moore said, "No." He ruled Johnson, who had flown in from his Indiana home, ineligible until the second semester at Vanderbilt, which doesn't come until Feb. 2.

So Polk will have to make do with what he has.

Before last weekend, this had been considerable. In fact, it had been good enough to run out a string of 11 straight wins this season, including a 64-62 blotting of Kentucky.

Then the trouble came over the weekend in Mississippi. First State whacked Vandy, 74-65, at Starkville. Then it was Ole Miss which administered a 74-72 licking in Oxford.

Now Vandy is riding with a two-game losing streak, and Polk is anxiously scanning the horizon for help.

He has been without the services of Bobby Bland, his No. 2 scorer and top defense man. Bland has been out for three games, including the Kentucky outing.

Polk sees no aid from Bland, hurt with a dislocated shoulder, until Feb. 4. "Bland, to us," explained Polk, "is like a top-flight quarterback is to a football team. You can't lose your No. 2 scorer and finest defensive man without feeling the effects."

Both Bland and sophomore forward Don Ringstaff visited the same doctor. The medic told Polk Ringstaff might be available for duty, despite a bruised heel. Xrays showed no fracture.

However, Ringstaff hasn't practiced this week at all. "He may not play any," said Polk. "This is the most injured team I've ever brought to Atlanta.

"If Ringstaff doesn't start, I'll go with one of three, Ray Clark, Bob Scott or Ron Griffiths. But they're all inexperienced."

Hanson Rolls, 65-52

Hanson Buick rolled to its 18th win of the year Thursday night in downing the Atlanta Athletic Club, 65-52. George Counts and Jimmy Stone led Hanson with 25 and 16 point totals while Bill Hale was high man for the Athletic Club with 19 points.

NOW 'BIG DADDY'S' A CAGER

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb, who has rattled the bones of opponents on the football field and the wrestling mat, will switch to the "no-contact" sport of basketball Saturday night.

The Baltimore Bullets of the Eastern Basketball League announced Thursday that the 6-foot-6, 290-pound Lipscomb has been signed and will make his deput here against Williamsport.

Lipscomb, twice an all-pro tackle with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, has been playing basketball with the off-season cage team of the Colts.

Coach Harry (Buddy) Jeannette of the first-place Bullets said he planned to use Big Daddy, for the time being at least, in spot assignments to rest Bill Spivey and Sherman White on the pivot post.

"He has a history of being a pretty good player," Jeannette said. "He handles himself pretty well on the court, and he should be in fair shape since the football season just ended not too long ago.

"We're going to take a look at him. If he is good enough, he also will help us at the gate."

Lipscomb, 29, was wooed by barnstorming basketball teams after he left Miller High School in Detroit. But he entered the Marines and later cast his lot with pro football.

Goalby's Flashy 66 Takes Crosby Lead

Venturi Among Four Firing 67; Arnold Palmer Opens With 70

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bob Goalby led a par-busting assault in the first round of Bing Crosby's $50,000 golf tournament Thursday with a tremendous finish and a six-under-par 66.

Goalby, a former football quarterback at Illinois, who won the $7,500 first prize in the Los Angeles Open, fired five birdies and an eagle on the final six holes. His card read 36-30 over the Monterey Peninsula course.

He needed the great finish to take a one stroke lead over a sharp shooting foursome—defending champion Ken Venturi, Bill Collins, Dave Hill and Howie Johnson who all had scores of 67.

Goalby's hot streak started at the 13th hole, where he sank a six-foot birdie putt. On the 14th, a par three, his tee shot stopped four feet from the pin and he sank the putt. On the 15th he dropped a 12-footer for an eagle three, and finished up with birdie putts of 3, 10 and 7 feet.

Venturi lost a chance to deadlock for the lead when his tee shot landed on the beach on the 18th at Pebble Beach and he took a one-stroke penalty.

Deadlocked at 68 were Jack Burke, Jerry Barber and Dave Ragan.

The Crosby combines an individual pro tourney and a pro-amateur with a total field of 300 golfers playing over three courses—Monterey Peninsula, Pebble Beach and Cypress Point.

Top prize in the pro division is $5,300 with $3,000 to the professional on the winning pro-amateur team.

Bolling Signs With Braves For '61 Season

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Second baseman Frank Bolling, acquired by the Milwaukee Braves last month from the Detroit Tigers, quickly agreed to terms Thursday and signed his 1961 contract.

Bolling, the solid second baseman sought by the Braves since Red Schoendienst's illness two years ago, talked over the contract with general manager John McHale en route to a luncheon.

Bolling, who is 29, hit only .254 for the Tigers last season, but is noted for his clutch ability.

Johnny Logan Vows to Keep His Braves Shortstop Post

Battle Looms With McMillan

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves introduced their new highly touted second base combination of Roy McMillan and Frank Bolling Thursday as veteran Johnny Logan served notice he still is the No. 1 shortstop.

The Braves tossed a gala "R.S.V.P." luncheon for the showing of the 1960 World Series films and had McMillan and Bolling occupying head table seats. Logan sat at a floor table, vowing to upset the Braves' plans in the spring.

"I've been the Braves' shortstop for 10 years and as far as I'm concerned I'm still the shortstop," Logan said. "Mac's a great ballplayer, but I'm not giving up my job to him. He's going to have to beat me out and I promise I'll take an awful lot of beating."

McMillan, acquired last month from Cincinnati in a three-way deal in which the Braves sent pitcher Joey Jay to the Reds and Juan Pizarro to the Chicago White Sox, also promised a stiff battle to win the shortstop berth.

"I'm going to do as much as possible to win the job," the soft-spoken McMillan said before posing with Logan for a cameraman. "I know John is going to do the same. Actually, it will be up to the manager. However, if I can't be the shortstop I'll do whatever I can to help the club win the pennant. That's what I'm here for."

Birdie Tebbetts, the Braves' executive vice president, welcomed the upcoming job fight which promises to be one of the toughest in spring training.

Turning to Logan, Tebbetts said:

"I know that you're going to give McMillan one helluva fight for the job. And he's going to give you one. I'm just going to sit down there and enjoy watching it. It's great for the club and great for baseball."

Bolling, obtained in a deal which sent centerfielder Billy Bruton to the Detroit Tigers, sat back wondering who his shortstop would be. The slick second baseman will have competition from Billy Martin and others but figures to be in the opening-day lineup.

Bruton was presented a desk set by the Milwaukee baseball writers at the luncheon for his contribution to the Braves and youth groups since the club's move from Boston in 1953.

BASEBALL NOTES—Jose Pizarro, 19-year-old Puerto Rican catcher sought by Frank Lane when he was with the Indians has signed up with the Athletics. Lane is now general manager of the A's . . . Vic Power, Cleveland first baseman, is the leading batter as the Puerto Rican winter baseball league moves into its final weeks . . . Bill DeWitt, new general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, announced he is going to hit the road to drum up business and make friends for his National League club . . . The Chicago Cubs received the contracts of catcher Walt Bales, infielder Sam Drake, and pitcher Ben Morrison. This brings the total signed to 28 . . . Righthander Noel Mickelsen, who led the Pacific Coast League in strikeouts last season and then was sold to the Milwaukee Braves, is quitting baseball for college.

saying "Coach Bass is the reason I changed my mind."

But Howard said, "I don't think Bass' personality is doing the job alone."

The players involved are quarterbacks James Campbell of Lamar, Jim Tom Oliver of Orangeburg, and Billy Wood of Augusta, Georgia.

At Columbia, S.C., Coach Bass virtually dared Howard to lodge an official protest.

"If our recruiting is as bad as Howard thinks it is," said Bass, "I think it would be a problem for the commissioner of our conference. If he thinks something is wrong, he should tell the commissioner."

TD CLUB TIDBITS: The weekend festivities officially begin Friday evening at 6 p.m. when a party and a buffet dinner are scheduled at the Dinkler Plaza. A luncheon is planned Saturday at noon and the climax comes at the Awards Banquet Saturday night. Featured speaker Don Miller, one of Notre Dame's Four Horsemen, is expected to arrive late Friday. . . Coach Shorty Doyal, long a Touchdown Club ramrod, recently underwent an operation on his leg, but will attend the festivities in a wheelchair.

Jim Stamps Fires Hot 67 in PGA Go

Special to The Constitution

JEKYLL ISLAND—Jim Stamps, the gray-haired veteran from Dalton, fired a spectacular 67 on the wind-swept Jekyll Island course Thursday to take a two-stroke lead in the Georgia State PGA Tournament.

Roaring back from an opening day 74, Stamps fashioned nine-hole scores of 35-32 for a two-day total of 141.

Dick Cline, the newcomer from LaGrange, shot a 72 for a 143 and second place as the big field heads into the championship showdown on Friday.

First-day leader Tommy Bean, host pro at Jekyll Island, ballooned to a 78 and fell into a third place tie with Ed Causey of Moultrie at 145.

Bean had opened with a 67 Wednesday, but complained Thursday that "I simply couldn't sink a putt all day."

Stamps played a tremendous back nine, scoring five threes.

Ted Morgan's Late Flurry Stops Outlar in State GG

Special to The Constitution

MARIETTA—Ted Morgan, Atlanta Boys Club, got off to a shaky start in the first round but rallied strongly in the second and third to gain a unanimous decision over Tommy Outlar, Warner Robins, for the 135-pound open title in the state Golden Gloves championships at Marietta.

Outlar, state novice champ last year, had Morgan in trouble in the first round with long-range lefts to the head but the Boys Club Battler regained his poise in the second with a strong body attack inside to take the decision.

Sonny Lawler, Griffin, fighting in the 175-pound open class, and Jommy Sikes, Whitehead Boys Club, provided the 1,200 opening-night fans with perhaps the most exciting fight of the night as they slammed away from start to finish. Lawler, state champion in both '59 and '60, was hard-pressed. Sikes was 175-pound champ in 1958 and was attempting a comeback.

But the best fight of the night didn't belong to the big boys as Roger Powell and Lamar Smith, Red Shield Boys Club, brought the crowd to its feet time and again with vicious exchanges throughout the bout. Powell won the fight, and the title in the 105-pound high school novice class.

With the completion of the 26-bout opening night card, competition was very close in the battle for team honors. Defending champ Warner Robins won five of nine bouts and the Fifth District teams from Atlanta won seven of 15. All of the Atlanta clubs represented in the finals will be competing under the Fifth District banner.

The Rome Boys Club had the best average, winning three of four fights while the South Columbus Boys Club won three of five.

HIGH SCHOOL NOVICE

Sluggish Petrels Rip By LaGrange, 62-43

Oglethorpe University rallied strongly in the second half to bludgeon LaGrange College, 62-43, Thursday night at the Oglethorp Field House.

The Petrels led only 29-24 at the intermission.

"It was one of our poorest games this season," Oglethorpe coach Garland Pinholster appraised. "However, I was proud of the way the kids came back the second half."

The Petrels had four players in double figures. Jay Rowland, Tommy Norwood, Buddy Goodwin and Roger Couch had 18, 13, 11 and 10 points.

Rowland had one of his most brilliant nights. He sank 8 of 11 from the floor.

Larry Boswell paced LaGrange with 17 points, hitting 8 of 16 floor shots.

Big Morris Mitchell and Goodwin led Petrel rebounds with eight claims apiece.

This win was the Petrel's 10th against a single loss.

Again the Oglethorpes had trouble at the free throw line. They had only 12 of 25. "This really worries me," said Pinholster. "We lost down at Statesboro Saturday because of poor free throwing. Maybe I've put too emphasis on this. From now on, we're just going to let that phase of the game ride."

No Decision Still on Vols; Directors Out

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Nashville Vols, on the verge of losing their Southern Association baseball franchise, received a 72-hour reprieve Thursday because of the Presidential inauguration.

A meeting scheduled Friday for a final decision on the shaky franchise was postponed until 2:30 p.m. Monday after nine of the 23-man board of directors were reported out of town, many of them in Washington to attend the inauguration of John F. Kennedy.

The directors include Gov. Buford Ellington, Lt. Gov. William Baird and Secretary of State Joe Carr, also secretary of Vols, Inc., the fan-owned corporation that controls the ball club.

The Vols have been faced with losing their franchise since Cincinnati dropped the working agreement last fall after six years. The team finished the 1959 season with about $11,00 in the bank.

Avondale's Guy Setting Pace In State AAA Scoring Race

Bears' DeFore Running 2nd

By PAUL ATKINSON

If there's one touchy subject with Avondale High School basketball coach Harry Logue, it's Freddie Guy.

There's good reason for this, too. According to figures compiled by The Constitution Thursday, Guy, a lanky 6-7 fellow, is Class AAA's top scorer with an average of 25.7 points per game.

Logue swears that Guy isn't given the credit due him.

"One story," said Logue the other day, "the reporters say, 'Guy used his superior height.' Sure, he uses his height, but when he does, he's usually double-teamed or triple-teamed.

"What these stories fail to bring out is Guy's shooting percentages. He's hitting 62 per cent of his field goal attempts and better than 80 per cent of his foul shots. That, friend, is shooting.

"Actually, we don't try to build up Freddie's scoring average. There's been only one game this season in which we really tried to get the ball to Freddie and see what he could do. That was in the Decatur game we won, 81-66. Freddie dumped in 45 that night."

It would appear the AAA scoring race will develop into a two-man race between Guy and Sylvan's Lee DeFore. Big DeFore is hitting 23.1 per game, and is 3-AAA's high scorer.

No other player over the state is in the 20-points bracket.

Rounding out the top 10 are Roosevelt's David Brookins, 19.5; Baker's Bruce Waldrop, 19.1; West Fulton's Bobby Hulsey and Druid Hills' Jack Manton, 18.2; Brown's Charles Kenney and Sprayberry's Charles Hardy, 18.1; Larry Bagby, Marietta, 17.6, and Grady's Don Baxter, 17.4.

NGTS Tips Sou. Tech

Special to The Constitution

CLARKESVILLE, Ga. — North Georgia Trade and Vocational School turned on the pressure in the second half and breezed to an easy 84-67 win over Southern Tech here Thursday night.

Leading by only one point, 36-35, at the half, North Georgia pulled away in the final period with Darrell Talley turning in the lion's share of the points for a game high of 21. Dennis Washington, Harris Moore and Harley Pierce provided ample assistance with 16 points each to put the game out of reach.

Alvin Hazelrigs was high man for Southern Tech with 19 points.

NORTH GEORGIA TRADE (84)—Washington 16, Compton 12, Talley 21, Moore 16, Pierce 16, Walters 2, Richardson 1.

SOUTHERN TECH (67)—Clagett 10, Wilson 5, Kirkland 7, Fagan 7, McNair 3, Griffin 8, Hazelrigs 19, Johnson 6, Aikins 2.

Score at Half: North Georgia Trade 36; Southern Tech 35.

Gate of $5,000,000 Seen for Title Bout

Texans Sign Beck, Clark; Fleming Goes to Oakland

From Press Dispatches

Boxing promoter Roy Cohn Thursday predicted a $5,000,000 gross gate from all sources for the March 13 heavyweight title fight at Miami Beach between champion Floyd Patterson and challenger Ingemar Johansson.

Patterson and Johansson signed for the bout in New York City.

In the technicalities of the fight, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People could come out $10,000 richer. Patterson had inserted a clause there would be no segregated seating. Should there be, the $10,000, posted by Feature Sports, would be sent to the NAACP.

When all's added up after the bout, Patterson figures he'll be $800,000 better off, and Johansson said he could gross $1,000,000. The challenger's figure is higher because he has 100 per cent of the Scandinavian film, TV and radio rights. Johansson got this by surrendering 15 per cent of the American rights, just as he did for their match last June 20.

FOOTBALL—The Dallas Texans of the American Football League announced the signing of three more players. They are: Bill Beck, 240-pound tackle from Gustavus Adolphus College; Dennis Clark, McNeese State College end, and Pat Freehan, Indiana end. . . . Halfback Bob Harrison, end Jim Massarelli, and place kicker George Belu, all members of the Ohio University football team signed for professional league tryouts. . . . George Fleming, halfback of the Washington Huskies, said he will sign with the Oakland Raiders of the American Football

Sports in Brief

League. . . . The Missouri football team voted Kansas' Bert Coan to their all opponent team. . . . The Denver Broncos announced the signing of tackles Jerry Miller of Howard Payne College, Jim Larkin of Hillsdale College, Herman Alexander of Findlay College, and guard Talisua Niko of Oregon State.

Cochran Calls Hardy 'One of 4-AAA's Five Best Basketball Players'

By PAUL ATKINSON

Faces, places and aces the high school set's talking about:

Sprayberry's Hal Cochran, though admitting to a little prejudice, believes his Charles Hardy is "one of the five best players in Region 4-AAA." That is a considerable recommendation for the 6-5 shotmaker, who is averaging better than 18 points per game. Hardy's best shot is a deft fadeaway, and Griffin's D. T. Smith calls it "unguardable."

Paul Atkinson

Region 4-AAA West's finest ball-handler could be Marietta's Benny Beverly. He's adept at stealing the basketball and can drive with a frenzy. Besides, he's a good outside shot.

One official's opinion of Sylvan's defending AAA boys champions: "Gee, I hate to work their games. They're so quick, you can get out of position in a hurry. The way they throw that ball the length of the court, it's zip and you're caught flatfooted."

Tom Whitfield's Harlem Bulldogs, apparently, are the class of Class C again. After a stumbling start, Harlem has won 11 in a row, the latest a 114-22 demolishing of Glascock County. Subs James Thomas and Ted McDaniel led the scoring in that one with 20 and 14 points. The team, however, is built around Phillip Kelley, Lindsey Howard and Hardy King. Harlem was the first team to apply a loss to Midville, 52-47.

As if that weren't enough, along came Thomson to bomb Midville, 63-41, as Charles Anthony fired in 24 points. Thomson raised its report card to 7-3 with that win. Harlem, Thomson and Midville will be three of the favorites in the CSRA Tournament at Augusta next Wednesday.

Dodge County, suddenly, has reeled off 10 wins in a row, smacking Hawkinsville, 75-54. Paul Studstill's the coach, and the star players have been Roy Williams, J. D. Thompson, Phil Shepherd and Bill Maddox.

They say that Charles Bennett's done one of the better coaching chores at Clinch County. He's lifted the Homerville squad from an 0-21 finish a few seasons ago to a current 11-1. Cliff Alexander, Bobby James and Herbert Tomlinson have hit in double figures for Clinch.

Butler High School, the new entry in Augusta to be coached by Major Tallent, already has scheduled four games for 1961, but is seeking six more. The schedule lists AAA Glynn Academy, A Screven County and Washington County and C Hephzibah. Butler moves into 2-AAA in 1962.

Atlantan Kit Kerns has come upon a new sport. He's captain of the Valley Forge (Pa.) Military Academy polo team.

Griffin's young ladies are 10-2 on the season, and two large reasons are forward Sue Marshall, averaging 27 points a game, and guard Sylvia Morris. Marshall has scored 932 points in her career at Griffin, and is sure to break the 1,000-point barrier. She's hitting 44 per cent from the field and 76 per cent at the free throw line.

Sites of AAA basketball tournaments are these: 1-AAA—Albany; 2-AAA—Benedictine Armory; 3-AAA—Alexander Memorial Coliseum; 4-AAA—Briarcliff gym (if it's finished in time; otherwise, at Cross Keys).

Our vote for game of the week: The rematch of Druid Hills and Avondale. Druid Hills, on a 16-game winning streak, won the first one at Druid Hills, 60-56, in overtime. Freddie Guy, AAA's top scorer, is ready for revenge.

PREPPING AROUND: In Rockdale County's recent 55-48 win over Stone Mountain, the Conyers team scored 33 of 48 free throws. Stone Mountain had only 6 of 18. . . . Applicants for the Lanier High School football coaching job have been Jim Nolan, Elton Wall and Bill Kittrell, latter an assistant at Valdosta. They hope to succeed Cotton Harrison, who steps up to Bibb County athletic director. . . . It's hard to believe, but in Smyrna's 73-59 win over South Cobb, Campbell scoring ace Jimmy Pitts took only three shots—and hit two for a six-point night. . . . Monroe is completing a slick new gym and hopes to be in it before the basketball season is over. . . . Kaye Wells, captain of the Climax girls basketball team, was named DAR Good Citizenship Girl for the school. . . . Jesup lost basketball captain Cliff Arnett with a bad ankle, probably for the season. . . . They say watch Glennville's 6-5, 195-pound Paul Purcell. He's averaging 22 points a game. . . . And in the Soph-to-Watch Category, place Osborne's 6-5 Bryan Phillips. For a big man, he's agile. And he has the good shots.

RUSSELL AT SMYRNA

Druid Hills, Avondale Rematch Features Friday Cage Action

By PAUL ATKINSON

It didn't exactly send Druid Hills High School coach Elmer Morrow into cartwheels of elation Thursday when informed he had the opportunity Friday night to stop Class AAA's top scorer, Avondale's Freddie Guy.

That task, for seven 4-AAA foes, has been impossible. Guy has popped 'em for 25.7 points per game.

"I tell you," said Morrow, "we can't give Guy his 25-to-30 points a game and hope to win. What defense will we use on him? That's hard to say. With his 6-7 height, there're not too many defenses you can use."

This is the second meeting of the two teams. Earlier, the Druids won at their place, 60-56.

Avondale High coach Harry Logue admits he's banking on the home court this time. "We're unbeaten at Avondale gym in the region," said Logue. "I just hope we can say that after Friday."

Morrow has a balanced scoring attack, built around 5-9 guard Jack Manton who's hitting at 18.2 points per game. It also features Edwin Horne, 14.5 average, and Wes Field, 10.1.

Logue has two other double-digit scorers in Craig Martin, 11.7, and Ed Pritchett, 10.5.

That'll be Greater Atlanta's feature. But other games will be of interest.

Region 4-AAA West leader, Smyrna, entertains always-dangerous Russell. This one matches Smyrna's Jerry Brown and Jimmy Pitts against Russell's Butch Norris and Harold Moore in what could develop into an outside-shooting duel.

In 3-AAA, unbeaten Sylvan visits with unpredictable Dykes, while Murphy, also undefeated in the eastern division, is idle. Brown tries to get another streak going against Roosevelt, while Northside's at Therrell. East Atlanta's at North Fulton and Grady at Smith in eastern division games.

FRIDAY'S SCHEDULE

3-AAA: Fulton at Bass, E. Atlanta at North Fulton, Grady at Smith, Brown at Roosevelt, Sylvan at Dykes, West Fulton at George, Northside at Therrell, O'Keefe at Southwest.

OTHERS: Druid Hills at Avondale, Griffin at GMA, Russell at Smyrna, Cross Keys at Gordon, Southwest DeKalb at Decatur, South Cobb at Marietta, West Gwinnett at Stone Mountain, Briarcliff at St. Pius X, Tucker at Clarkston, Chamblee at Forsyth County, Westminster at Douglas County.

Newberry Bombards Panthers

Newberry College defeated Georgia State for the second time this season Thursday night, 90-65, despite a career-high scoring effort by the Panthers' Frank Doherty.

Swiping the spotlight from the Redskins' nationally fourth-ranked Carl Short, Doherty poured in 30 points, all but six on field goals, slightly surpassing Short's 29.2 average.

Short wound up with 22 points, but played no more than two-thirds of the game. Forward Joe Derketsch and guard Phil Musgrave, two New Yorkers, and center John Bouknight were the game's only other two-figure scorers, firing in 17, 16 and 12 points for Newberry.

It was the South Carolina team's ninth straight victory.

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

"In no other country can be found so great a variety of ingenious, small and low priced devices which add so much to comfort and convenience."—Trade news note.

The ingenuity of men . . . Has given us the ball-point pen . . . Self-winding watches, bubble gum . . . And pills to take when troubles come . . . Most any package you obtain . . . Is snugly wrapped in cellophane . . . And you can't open up the box . . . Unless you're stronger than the ox.

The little "zipper" that unrolls . . . Is used instead of button-holes . . . And buttons, while the hooks-and-eyes . . . Grandmother used to utilize . . . For fastening her party frock . . . Are out of date and out of stock.

But ever changing is the scene . . . And life is not always serene . . . Although, I'm sure we all agree . . . It's better than it used to be . . . For while we're resting from our toil . . . Some others burn the midnight oil . . . And cook up something that is new . . . Which can be sold to me and you . . . And though their praises should be sung . . . Whoever has a zipper hung . . . Or watch that has no winding stem . . . Winds up by "cussing" all of them.

School Association Okays Decatur Setup, Westminster

Four elementary school systems in Georgia have been accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Decatur city schools, Westminster private school, Troup County schools and Telfair County schools were accredited.

The association recently launched a program for accrediting elementary schools. It has been accrediting high schools and colleges for years.

Pass	3 NT	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: J of ♥.

Here are three problems on bidding and the opening lead presented in the Bridge World. How would you handle them? The answers are given below along with the play of today's hand.

1. You hold these South cards, with East-West vulnerable:

♥ Q 6 3
♦ K Q 8 2
♣ K 10 7 5

The bidding has gone:

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	Pass	Pass	?

What call do you make?

2. You hold these South cards, vulnerable:

♠ 8 6 5 4 3
♦ K J 8
♣ A Q 7

The bidding has gone:

East	South	West	North
3 ♥	Pass	Pass	Dbl.
Pass	?

What call do you make?

3. You hold these West cards, with both sides vulnerable:

♦ K 10 9 7 5
♣ 9 6 4 3 2

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	4 ♥	6 ♠
Pass	Pass	Dbl.	Pass
Pass	Pass

What is your opening lead?

4. You are declarer of today's three no-trump hand, and West opens the jack of hearts, won with your king. Study only the North-South cards and the bidding, then plan your play.

ANSWERS TO QUIZ

1. South passes. He does not "balance" because the hand seems to belong to the opponents and they may easily have a game in spades.

2. South jumps to four spades with his good holding, Since there is very likely a game, no reason to bid only three spades and give North a chance to pass.

3. West opens a club. East's double calls for an unusual lead and must show a minor-suit void. It looks as though declarer is counting on running a side suit—clubs—without loss. West hopes his side can take a club ruff and the king of diamonds.

4. South makes game by properly handling the spade suit. He does not lead a diamond to dummy and try a spade finesse because when it loses, West will knock out the heart queen. This gives declarer two spades, two hearts and four diamonds, but he has no time to gain a club trick. He loses a spade, a club and three hearts.

The winning play is to lead a low spade toward the jack at trick 2, placing West with the missing high cards on the bidding. If West goes in with the king, declarer has three spade tricks, and the heart queen gives him game—no club trick is necessary.

If West ducks, dummy's spade jack wins, and declarer now has plenty of time to develop both a club trick and the queen of hearts, again making game.

Gen. Lee Would Despise School Riots, Wiley Says

MACON (AP)—If Gen. Robert E. Lee were alive today, would he be among those resisting "national authority" on, say, racial integration?

A historian of Lee's Civil War period said Thursday that he would not.

Dr. Bell I. Wiley, professor of history at Emory University, told a Mercer University audience:

"It is inconceivable that Lee, if he were alive today would advocate resistance to national authority or in any way abet social turmoil or racial hatred."

Wiley also assailed self-seeking Confederate flag-wavers seeking respectability and enhanced influence in the "revered emblem."

Wiley said the South would have fared better if it had named Lee its president instead of Jefferson Davis. He suggested that Dixie was shorter on political than military genius and Lee would have made "a superior president and a more effective political chieftan than Davis."

"He was great in war but in peace he was magnificent," declared Wiley.

In his remarks on the Confederate flag, the speaker said Lee would staunchly oppose its use to "cloak sordid causes and unworthy persons."

"He would be infuriated," Wiley continued, "by the sight of self-seeking demagogues and wrong-thinking agents of bigotry, hatred and violence wrapping themselves in this revered emblem in an effort to acquire respectability and enhance their influence."

Home Building Given Shot in Arm in Fall

By JIM MONTGOMERY
Constitution Business Editor

Georgia's 1960 home building deficit shrank to within 9.4 per cent of the 1959 level at the end of the first 10 months, the government reported Thursday.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

"Better see what the judge wants!"

The lag was cut from 15.2 per cent in the first three-quarters by a surprise upturn during October.

The housing slump also eased a little nationally, the U.S. deficit edging off from 20 per cent at the end of September to 17.9 per cent at the end of October.

PERMITS DIP 9 PCT.

In Georgia, building permits were issued for 17,502 residential housekeeping units during the first 10 months of 1960—a drop of 2,606, or 9.4 per cent, from the same 1959 period, according to the U.S. Commerce department's Atlanta field office.

The figure indicated that, despite the slight increase in October as compared with the same 1959 month, Georgia's 1960 total will wind up some 2,500 units behind 1959, or just about equal to 1958.

But whether because of increased size or higher building costs, or both, the cost per unit was higher last year.

VALUE OFF 5 PCT.

For while the number of units dropped 9.4 per cent in the first 10 months, the total value of the permits issued during this period fell only 5.9 per cent to $155,079,000, which was $9,821,000 less than a year earlier.

Most states, incidentally, absorbed greater percentage declines than Georgia last year in both number and value of residential building permits.

In both categories, only five states and the District of Columbia showed gains over 1959 during the first 10 months.

Of the remaining states, only seven had a smaller rate of decline than Georgia in number of units authorized, and only three had a smaller rate of decline in permit values.

Bean Market Settles Down

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybean futures galloped over a broad range again in active dealings on the Board of Trade but closed with the smallest net changes in more than two weeks.

All contracts ended only about a cent either way from previous closes although they had been off as much as four cents in spots at times and up as much as two cents or so at their best.

POULTRY

GEORGIA LIVE POULTRY

Broilers and fryers: Market steady. Inquiry for weekend shipments of processed poultry quiet though sufficient to clear limited live offerings. Average weights satisfactory.

Payments for broilers and fryers delivered to plants ranged from ½-1¼c per lb. above reported at-farm prices.

Estimated slaughter by Georgia processors 439,000 compared to 561,000 last Thursday. No sale held on Georgia Poultry Exchange Wednesday.

Buyers' tentative paying prices per lb. ranged at farm 15.5-16.75c mostly 16c on 422,000 not priced prior to Thursday's movement (includes intracompany transfers).

Prices paid per lb. Wednesday, broilers and fryers 3-4 lbs. at farms 16-17c, 670,000, 46 per cent at 16c, 16 per cent at 16.5-16.75c, 1 per cent at 17, 37 per cent intracompany transfers.

Hens: Demand remains fair with offerings ample. Estimated slaughter of heavy type 21,000, light type 17,300. Prices paid per lb. for heavy type at farms 19c f.o.b. plants 20c. Light type at farms 9-10c f.o.b. plants 11½c.

Old roosters heavy type at farms 8c, plant 9c.

Atlanta Produce

According to the A.M.S., trading was slow with receipts light to moderate on the Atlanta produce market Thursday morning. Medium yellow onions were again slightly higher; other lines were mostly unchanged. Apples were steady with supplies moderate to liberal.

Florida oranges jobbed 2.75-3.00 and grapefruit 1.75-2.10 per half box carton with some pink varieties high as 2.25; Temple oranges in light supply were 3.40-3.50 per half box and tangerines were unchanged at 2.00-3.25 per half box according to size. Florida round type cabbage was slow at 1.00-1.25 per bag with few higher, best mostly 1.15-1.25.

Georgia sweet potatoes continued unchanged at 4.00-4.75 mostly 4.25-4.50 per bushel basket of good kiln dried stock. Large and small and poorer sold mostly 2.00-2.25. Georgia turnip greens and mustard brought 1.25-2.00, mostly 1.50-1.75 per bushel; collards from Alabama were 1.25-1.50 and Georgia stock 1.25-2.00 mostly 1.50-1.75 with some poorer 1.00.

Few Texas turnips sold at 2.25; few Alabama 1.50; Georgia offerings were 1.75-2.50 mostly 2.00-2.25.

Florida vegetables remained in light volume. Wade beans jobbed 3.50-3.75, some poorer 2.50-3.00; pole beans were quoted 3.75-4.00, few fair 3.00; yellow crookneck squash was 3.75-4.00; large 2.25-2.50; acorn 3.50 and fair 2.50; fancy cucumbers ranged 6.00-7.50 bushel and some fair 4.00; medium to large bell peppers were easier at 3.00-4.00 mostly 3.50, few medium and fair 2.50; eggplant was 2.75-3.50 bushel and fair 2.00-2.25.

Supplies were too few to quote for fresh corn; okra, butterbeans and field peas. Escarole, endive, romaine, parsley and radishes were unchanged. Florida new round red potatoes were also steady and pascal celery was steady at 2.25-2.50 per crate of mostly three dozen size.

Exchange Halts Trade On B&O

NEW YORK (UPI)—The common stock of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad was suspended from trading on the New York Stock Exchange Thursday because of an avalanche of sell orders. The stock soared 6⅛ points Wednesday on reported heavy buying by the New York Central in a last ditch effort to frustrate the Chesapeake & Ohio's drive for 80 per cent of the B&O stock to pave the way for a merger.

The Interstate Commerce Commission disclosed it is investigating the heavy trading in the common stock to determine whether the purchases are in violation of federal law. The Interstate Commerce Act prohibits the acquisition of stock control of a railroad without prior ICC approval.

Fails to Get Control

NEW YORK (UPI)—Glen Alden Corp. has thrown in the sponge in its fight to gain control of Endicott Johnson Corp. The heads of the two companies announced that arrangements had been made to enable the big shoe manufacturer's pension fund to acquire all the Endicott Johnson common stock held by Glen Alden.

Upturn Indicated

NEW YORK (AP) — More than half of 184 manufacturing companies surveyed predict a marked upturn in their new orders before the middle of the year or already have noted improvement, the National Industrial Conference Board reports.

The majority said the current business readjustment has adversely affected them. But almost three out of four whose new orders have declined said they believe the rate of incoming business will not go lower.

Waikiki Hotel Sold

OKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Conrad M. Hilton Thursday purchased from Henry J. Kaiser for $21.5 million the 1,100-room Hawaiian Village of Honolulu's Waikiki Beach. The Joint announcement of Hilton and Kaiser called it the biggest Hilton real estate transaction since the Hilton bought New York's Statler Hotel in 1954.

L&N Shares Dip $5 as Dividend Is Cut to 75 Cts.

NEW YORK (AP) — The common stock of Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. dropped more than $5 a share on the New York Stock Exchange Thursday shortly after directors of the company cut the dividend to 75 cents from $1 paid in the two previous quarters.

Directors of the big Southern carrier, meeting in Louisville, ordered the 75 cent payment made on March 13 to stockholders of record Feb. 1. In the two preceding quarters, dividends of $1 were paid prior to which $1.25 was paid quarterly.

Also announced Thursday was the election to the L&N board of directors of Lucien E. Oliver of Atlanta, vice president of Sear, Roebuck & Co. in charge of its 12-state Southern territory.

Rail Joinup Dangerous, PSC Says

ACL, SAL Asked To Modify Plans

The proposed Atlantic Coast Line—Seaboard Air Line Railroad Co. merger threatens to play havoc with rail transportation in important Georgia areas, the chairman of the Georgia Public Service Commission said Thursday.

Chairman Matt L. McWhorter announced that the PSC will formally oppose the combine before the Interstate Commerce Commission unless it is so modified not to take business away from smaller railroad and demoralize their service to the public.

Data already on file, he reporter, indicate that the combine would rob the Georgia Railroad of 20 per cent of its gross freight revenue and Central of Georgia of between six and 10 per cent, or some $2.3 million annually.

That would be ruinous not only to the smaller lines but also to important areas which they serve, the PSC chairman maintained.

A hearing on the merger is scheduled at Savannah Feb. 13 and another may be held later at Waycross. McWhorter urged all interested persons to take advantage of this opportunity to make themselves heard on the proposal.

Also pending are moves by Southern for control of Central of Georgia and by Illinois Central and Southern for control of Louisville and Nashville. McWhorter said that these, if consummated, might mitigate to some extent at least the effect in Georgia of the ACL-Seaboard merger.

Directly involved in the pending ACL-Seaboard deal, he noted, are nearly half of the state's 6,000 miles of railroad and indirectly an additional 1,400 miles.

Chevrolet Sales Climb 20.1 Pct.

Economic stability in Georgia "contributed importantly" to a 20.1 per cent rise in new car and truck sales by Chevrolet's Atlanta sales zone last year, W. A. McKee, the zone's new sales manager, said at an introductory press conference here Thursday night.

He said the zone's 1960 sales of 50,929 vehicles compared with 40,732 in 1959 and with 54,207 in 1955, the biggest year ever for this zone.

Rail Boom Halts; Stocks Scrambled

NEW YORK (AP)—An early advance by rails foundered in a thoroughly scrambled stock market. Trading was heavy.

Dealings in Baltimore & Ohio stock stalled as the New York Stock Exchange found it impossible to make an orderly market in the stock due to a huge pile-up of orders.

After more than an hour of delay, B&O opened on huge blocks, traded for a minute or so, then failed to trade for the balance of the day. The first delay was due to buy orders, the second to sell orders.

Meanwhile, New York Central stated through its president, Alfred E. Perlman, it has been the buyer of B&O stock and will continue to protect its position in the Eastern rail merger picture. The statement took the matter out of the realm of rumor and supposition.

Chesapeake & Ohio already has more than 50 per cent of B&O's common tendered under a share exchange offer aimed at eventual merger but would like to have 80 per cent so the financial reports could be consolidated and it could make certain tax savings. A 21 per cent holding in B&O by Central and by its holding company, Alleghany Corp., would block that objective and bolster Central's position before the Interstate Commerce Commission when the merger comes up officially. Meanwhile, the ICC launched an investigation of heavy trading in B&O. The regular common and the "stamped" common (assented in the exchange offer), were the most active gainers Wednesday.

The stock exchange banned all "stop" orders in B&O after the close. These are orders placed at specified prices, to buy or sell. When "bunched" they lead to chaotic conditions.

A dividend cut by Louisville & Nashville sent that stock to a 4¾-point loss.

Fractional gains and losses were the portion of most key stocks, although there were a few wider moves.

Circular pattern identifies deposits scraped from combustion chamber. It tells researchers many secrets. To get this pattern, deposits are ground up and placed above a film. Electrons are beamed directly at the deposits. The beam is diffracted—scattered at precise and characteristic angles. This registers as the pattern of dots shown above. Reading this photograph, Shell scientists learn composition of deposits, determine how to neutralize them.

BULLETIN:

Weird electron "pictures" help Shell scientists develop improved TCP for today's Super Shell —to give your car top performance

Read how electron diffraction revealed the inner secrets of the combustion deposits in your car's engine. How improved TCP was developed to neutralize these deposits, prolong spark-plug life, increase mileage—and release up to 15% more power.

Here's the full story of today's Super Shell—and the 9 ingredients that give your car top performance.

THE TCP in today's Super Shell does its job better than ever. It neutralizes certain harmful effects of combustion deposits—deposits that can prevent you from ever knowing your engine's top performance.

There's not a single engine with more than a few thousand miles on it that doesn't have this type of deposit in its combustion chambers. These deposits can cause real trouble when you need power most.

They glow red-hot and set off the fuel before the spark plug has a chance to get into the act.

The experts call this pre-ignition. The explosion punches the piston on the way up. Two forces meet head-on. No wonder your power falls off.

Deposits can also cramp your car's performance by short-circuiting the spark. What happens? No firing—you get a miss.

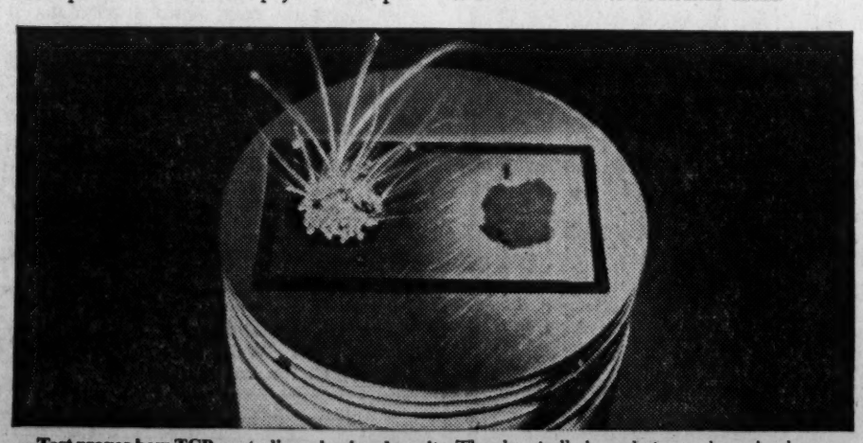
A scientific detective story

Shell scientists announced the first TCP* additive eight years ago, after research had proved it could virtually end this misfire problem once and for all. TCP was hailed as the greatest advance in gasoline in thirty-one years. Now Shell has improved it.

Scientific detectives like the electron "photograph" (above) made new, improved TCP possible. They helped Shell scientists to look engine deposits right in the face. And to find how best to neutralize them.



Test proves how TCP neutralizes glowing deposits. The electrically heated piston, above, has been sprinkled with two kinds of engine deposit. The glowing deposit, at left, had not been neutralized with TCP. The deposit on the right had. With TCP in action, there is no trace of glow.

What today's TCP can do

Tests have already proved that TCP can help you get up to 15 per cent more power, up to 17 more miles per tankful. And it can make plugs last up to twice as long.

Yet TCP is only one of nine ingredients in today's Super Shell. Read about the others. And how each helps your car deliver its top performance.

Ingredient #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—the mysterious substance that can alter molecules without changing itself.

Ingredient #3 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer this outstanding high-octane ingredient for Shell aviation fuel.

Alkylate—the ingredient that took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: Speaking of controlling knocks at high speeds, remember that car engines frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7. Think of this next time you pass another car.

Ingredient #4 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have keen ears.

They insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix so effective that one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

Ingredient #5 is Butane for quick starts on cold mornings

Butane is so eager to get going that Shell keeps it under pressure 400 feet below ground to stop it from vaporizing by itself. Think what this extra volatility means in cold weather. Your engine fires in seconds. There is less strain on your battery. And none on your patience.

NOTE: Super Shell is primed with Butane all year round. In winter, Shell scientists simply increase the quick-start dose.

Ingredient #6 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

Ingredient #7 is an "anti-icer" to check cold-weather stalling

Super Shell's formula is adjusted as often as eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, a carburetor anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can choke your engine dead.

Ingredient #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This can clog carburetors and foul automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A special gum preventive does the trick. It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. Hence no gum problem.

Ingredient #9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately for you and for us, this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its odd name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane gasoline.

But make no mistake. This is not untamed energy. Far from it. The super-energy of Platformate is harnessed by the eight other ingredients in Super Shell, where it behaves so well you scarcely know it's there. That is until you note your extra mileage. After that, there is no doubt.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs.

That difference is top performance.
